

IMAGE EVALUATION
TEST TARGET (MT-3)

Photographic Sciences Corporation

23 WEST MAIN STREET
WEBSTER, N.Y. 14580
(716) 872-4503

1.8
2.0
2.2
2.5
2.8
3.2
3.6
4.0
4.5
5.0
5.6
6.3
7.0
8.0
9.0
10.0
11.2
12.5
14.0
16.0
18.0
20.0
22.5
25.0
28.0
31.5
36.0
40.0
45.0
50.0
56.0
63.0
70.0
80.0
90.0
100.0

CIHM/ICMH
Microfiche Series.

CIHM/ICMH
Collection de microfiches.

Canadian Institute for Historical Microreproductions / Institut canadien de microreproductions historiques

© 1983

1.0
1.2
1.5
1.8
2.0
2.2
2.5
2.8
3.2
3.6
4.0
4.5
5.0
5.6
6.3
7.0
8.0
9.0
10.0
11.2
12.5
14.0
16.0
18.0
20.0
22.5
25.0
28.0
31.5
36.0
40.0
45.0
50.0
56.0
63.0
70.0
80.0
90.0
100.0

Technical and Bibliographic Notes/Notes techniques et bibliographiques

The Institute has attempted to obtain the best original copy available for filming. Features of this copy which may be bibliographically unique, which may alter any of the images in the reproduction, or which may significantly change the usual method of filming, are checked below.

L'Institut a microfilmé le meilleur exemplaire qu'il lui a été possible de se procurer. Les détails de cet exemplaire qui sont peut-être uniques du point de vue bibliographique, qui peuvent modifier une image reproduite, ou qui peuvent exiger une modification dans la méthode normale de filmage sont indiqués ci-dessous.

- Coloured covers/
Couverture de couleur
- Covers damaged/
Couverture endommagée
- Covers restored and/or laminated/
Couverture restaurée et/ou pelliculée
- Cover title missing/
Le titre de couverture manque
- Coloured maps/
Cartes géographiques en couleur
- Coloured ink (i.e. other than blue or black)/ Encre de couleur (i.e. autre que bleue ou noire)
- Coloured plates and/or illustrations/
Planches et/ou illustrations en couleur
- Bound with other material/
Relié avec d'autres documents
- Tight binding may cause shadows or distortion along interior margin/
La reliure serrée peut causer de l'ombre ou de la distortion le long de la marge intérieure
- Blank leaves added during restoration may appear within the text. Whenever possible, these have been omitted from filming/
Il se peut que certaines pages blanches ajoutées lors d'une restauration apparaissent dans le texte, mais, lorsque cela était possible, ces pages n'ont
pas été filmées.
- Additional comments:/
Commentaires supplémentaires:

- Coloured pages/
Pages de couleur
- Pages damaged/
Pages endommagées
- Pages restored and/or laminated/
Pages restaurées et/ou pelliculées
- Pages discoloured, stained or foxed/
Pages décolorées, tachetées ou piquées
- Pages detached/
Pages détachées
- Showthrough/
Transparence
- Quality of print varies/
Qualité inégale de l'impression
- Includes supplementary material/
Comprend du matériel supplémentaire
- Only edition available/
Seule édition disponible
- Pages wholly or partially obscured by errata slips, tissues, etc., have been refilmed to ensure the best possible image/
Les pages totalement ou partiellement obscurcies par un feuillet d'errata, une pelure, etc., ont été filmées à nouveau de façon à obtenir la meilleure image possible.

This item is filmed at the reduction ratio checked below/
Ce document est filmé au taux de réduction indiqué ci-dessous.

10X	12X	14X	16X	18X	20X	22X	24X	26X	28X	30X	32X
						✓

The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

Library of the Public
Archives of Canada

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol \rightarrow (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ∇ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

La bibliothèque des Archives
publiques du Canada

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole \rightarrow signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ∇ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

rrata
to peiture, n à

UNIVERSITY QUESTION:
THE
REV. DR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE
OF THE
WESLEYAN PETITIONS
TO THE LEGISLATURE, AND OF DENOMINATIONAL COLLEGES
AS PART OF OUR SYSTEM OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION,
IN REPLY TO DR. WILSON AND MR. LANGTON, BEFORE A SELECT COMMITTEE OF THE LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

With an Appendix containing Replies to Statements by the Hon. George Brown, M.P.P.

REPORTED BY ARTHUR HARVEY, ESQ., AND REVISED BY THE AUTHOR.

QUEBEC:
PRINTED BY THOMPSON & CO., ST. URSULE STREET.
1860.

NOTICE.

From the Quebec Morning Chronicle, April 27, 1860.

"The Parliamentary Committee on the subject of the Toronto University Endowment, concluded taking evidence yesterday. The great features of the discussion which has taken place in the Committee Room, have been the speeches of Professor Wilson and Dr. Ryerson; the first on the side of the University, and the second on the side of the Sects. The orations of these gentlemen were beautifully spiced with personalities; and yesterday, we are told, the speech of the Upper Canada Superintendent of Education merged pathetically towards the close into a flood of tears, quite affecting to behold. Stern Legislators were found perceptibly and audibly blubbering, while the friends of the reverend speaker were altogether overcome."

UNIVERSITY QUESTION :
DR. RYERSON'S DEFENCE, &c.,

IN

REPLY TO DR. WILSON AND MR. LANGTON,

Wednesday, 25th April, 1860.

COMMITTEE MET.

Present :

The Honorable MALCOLM CAMERON, Chairman.

“ Mr. CAYLEY,
“ “ FOLEY,
“ McCANN, “ ROBLIN, “ SIMPSON,
“ WILSON.

The Reverends Messrs. Cook, Ryerson, Stinson, Nelles and Poole were in attendance.

John Langton, Esquire, Vice Chancellor, and Professor Wilson of University of Toronto, were in attendance.

Dr. RYERSON'S Reply to Dr. WILSON and Mr. LANGTON'S Statements.

Dr. Ryerson addressed the Chairman and Committee as follows :—

MR. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN,

I am quite aware of the disadvantage under which I appear before you to-day. I am not insensible of the prejudices which may have been excited in the minds of many individuals by the occurrences of the last few days ; I am not insensible of the impressions which some of the questions and statements may have made upon the minds of Members of the Committee as well as others ; I am not at all insensible of the fact that the attempt has been made to turn the issue, not on the great question which demands attention, but upon my merits or demerits, my standing as a man, and the course which I have pursued. This subject, of very little importance to the Committee, of comparatively little importance to the country, possesses a great deal of importance to myself. No man can stand in the presence of the Representatives of the People ; no man can stand, as I feel myself standing this morning, not merely in the presence of a Committee, but, as it were, in the presence of my native country, the land of my birth, affections, labors, hopes, without experiencing the deepest emotion. But how much more is that the case when attempts have been made, of the most unprecedented kind, to deprive me of all that is dear to me as a man, as a parent, as a public officer, as a minister of the Christian Church. More especially do I thus feel, because reading and arranging the papers on this subject, to which my attention has been called, occupied me until five o'clock this morning. Rising to address you under such circumstances and emotions, I respectfully crave the impartial consideration of the Committee and throw myself on their generous indulgence.

Sir, the position of the question which demands our consideration this day is one altogether peculiar, and I will venture to say, unparalleled in this or any other country. The individuals connected with myself—the party unconnected with what may be called the National University of the country, stand as the conservators of a high standard of education, and appear before you as the advocates of a thorough course of training that will discipline, in the most effectual manner, the powers of the mind and prepare the youth of our country for those pursuits and those engagements which demand their attention as men, Christians, and patriots, while the very persons to whom has been allotted this great interest, this important trust, stand before you as the advocates of a reduction, of a puerile system which has never invigorated the mind, or raised up great men in any country; which can never lay deep and broad the foundations of intellectual grandeur and power anywhere, but which is characterized by that superficiality which marks the proceedings of the educational institutions in the new and Western States of the neighbouring Republic. Sir, I feel proud of the position I occupy; that if I have gone to an extreme, I have gone to the proper extreme, that even if I may have pressed my views to an extent beyond the present standing, the present capabilities of the Province, my views have been upward, my course has been onward, my attempt has been to invigorate Canada with an intellect and a power, a science and a literature that will stand unabashed in the presence of any other country, while the very men who should have raised our educational standard to the highest point, who should have been the leaders in adopting a high and thorough course, have confessed during the discussion of this question that the former standard was too high, and that they have been levelling it down, incorporating with it speculations which have never elevated the institutions of any country, and adopting a course of proceedings which never advanced any nation to the position to which I hope in God my native country will attain. There is another peculiarity in the position of this question, and of the circumstances under which I appear before you this morning. It is that of collision; that of conflict with parties who are arrayed on the other side of this question: it is to a certain extent that of trial in regard to a richly endowed Institution, and the enquiry naturally suggests itself, to whom is due the origin of this position? The attempt has been made throughout these proceedings to throw the blame on the petitioners, and more especially on myself, and to inculcate me with the entire responsibility of the mutually hostile position that the different parties in your presence occupy during this investigation. But what are the facts of the case, and who are the originators of the state of collision which has characterized this investigation? The resolutions on which these proceedings have taken place were adopted by the Wesleyan Conference in June last. Now, whatever other changes may have taken place, I still adhere to the people of my youth, who were the early instruments of all the religious instruction I received until I attained manhood. Whether they are a polished and learned or a despised people, I still am not ashamed of them nor of the humblest of their advocates or professors. I stand before you without a blush, in immediate connection, and identified with that people. The resolutions that were adopted by the Conference, in pursuance of which the Conference appointed a large Executive Committee, consisting of nearly one hundred of the most experienced members of their body, to prepare the memorial which has been presented to Parliament, are these:

“Resolved, 1st. That it is the conviction of a large proportion, if not a large majority of the inhabitants of Canada, that their sons, in pursuing the higher branches of education (which cannot be acquired in day schools, and rarely without the youth going to a distance from the paternal roof and oversight) should be placed in institutions in which their religious instruction and moral oversight, as well as their literary training, are carefully watched over and duly provided for ; a conviction practically evident by the fact, that not only the members of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, and other Methodists, but the members of the Churches of England, Scotland and Rome have contributed largely, and exerted themselves to establish colleges and higher seminaries of learning, for the superior education of their children.

" 2nd. That no provision for instruction in secular learning alone, can compensate for the absence of provision, or care, for the religious and moral instruction of youth in the most exposed, critical and eventful period of their lives.

" 3rd. That it is of the highest importance to the best interests of Canada, that the Legislative provision for superior education should be in harmony with the conscientious convictions and circumstances of the religious persuasions who virtually constitute the Christianity of the country.

" 4th. That the exclusive application of the Legislative provision for superior education, to the endowment of a college for the education of the sons of that class of parents alone who wish to educate their sons in a non-denominational institution, irrespective of their religious principles and moral character, to the exclusion of those classes of parents who wish to educate their sons in colleges or seminaries where a paternal care is bestowed upon their moral and religious interests, at the same time that they are carefully and thoroughly taught in secular learning ; is grossly illiberal, partial, unjust and unpatriotic, and merits the severest reprobation of every liberal and right-minded man of every religious persuasion and party in the country.

" 5th. That the ministers and members of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, aided by the liberal co-operation of many other friends of Christian education, have largely and long contributed to establish and sustain Victoria college, in which provision is made for the religious instruction and oversight of students, independent of any Legislative aid—in which there are fifty-nine students in the Faculty of Arts, besides more than two hundred pupils and students in preparatory and special classes—in which no religious test is permitted by the charter in the admission of any student, or pupil, and in which many hundreds of youths of different religious persuasions, have been educated and prepared for professional and other pursuits, many of whom have already honorably distinguished themselves in the clerical, legal and medical professions, as also in mercantile and other branches of business.

" 6th. That Victoria College is justly entitled to share in the Legislative provision for superior education, according to the number of students in the Collegiate and Academical courses of instruction.

" 7th. That we affectionately entreat the members of our church to use their influence to elect, as far as possible, public men who are favorable to the views, expressed in the foregoing resolutions, and do equal justice to those who wish to give a superior religious education to the youth of the country, as well as those who desire for their sons a non-religious education alone.

" 8th. That a copy of these resolutions be laid before the quarterly meeting of each Circuit, for the consideration and co-operation of our official brethren throughout the Province."

These Resolutions were laid before the country, and what was their reception by the University College advocates ? They were received by attacks upon the Wesleyan body, upon their Collegiate institution, upon other Colleges in the country, and upon myself individually. These attacks came from the part of the advocates of University College, who drew their inspiration, no doubt, very largely from those immediately and directly connected with that institution. The Wesleyan body were spoken of as robbers of a public fund; their institution was denounced as a mean, contemptible school, unworthy of the name of a college; and every possible term of opprobrium was used as regards myself. These attacks lasted from June until the following autumn, while I never said a word or wrote a line. Yet the resolutions of the Conference simply treated of a general principle. What was the result? Why, that the advocates of the Wesleyan Conference were compelled in self-defence, in defence of their college and other colleges of similar character, to say that they had an equal claim to public consideration with University College, that there was nothing in it which should give such a lofty character to its pretensions. The advocates of University College said that was the only College in the country worthy of the name, the only one to which any sort of respect should be paid; and the advocates of the Conference were thus forced to assume the position of comparison, which they did not originally contemplate. Had the writers who drew their inspiration from University College met these resolutions by arguments as to the principles on which a great national system of education shall be based, instead of by attacks on the Wesleyan body, the attitude of collision would not have been witnessed. But when the large Committee appointed by Conference, consisting of between 60 and 100 members, met for the purpose of bringing the question into the immediate view of Parliament, they found themselves compelled to institute and pursue that very enquiry into the merits of the educational course of University College, in justification of their own institution and claims. If, then, there has been anything personal, unfriendly, unpleasant, in this investigation, the indiscreet advocates of University College have themselves to blame. They courted, and they must bear the consequences of the quarrel. I have said that from June to November, I wrote not a word, but when the memorial was prepared by the Committee to whom it was given to prepare it, then, under the auspices of that Committee, the subsequent discussion took place, and papers were prepared in illustration and proof of the complaints and statements of the memorial. Were we to blame for this? I would ask any member of this Committee if he himself, with a cane in his hand, were pursued day after day and week after week by barking curs, that not only constantly annoyed but occasionally bit him, would he not repel them by an occasional rap on the head? When the advocates of the Wesleyan Conference felt that they had the material to refute the imputations thrown upon them—ample material, not only to defend their own institution, but to shew that it stood upon equal ground with those who made exclusive pretensions to graduateship or to anything like scholarly judgment in devising a system of superior education for the people of Upper Canada, they would have been cowards and poltroons had they not accepted the challenge thus thrown down, and been ready to meet their opponents here or any where else, face to face, upon the ground of fact, principle and justice. Then, Sir, instead of entering into this question as they should, the attention of this Committee and of the country has been turned from the great issues and fixed upon myself. My sins have been the theme of past days' investigation and remark; my infirmities, weaknesses, inconsistencies and demerits have been the substance of all that has been pressed upon your attention day after day, and the text of the two speeches to which I am now replying, each upwards of two hours in length. I confess that I have infirmities and sins, but at the same time I submit that they have no connection with the real question before the Committee; yet, as they have been brought before you, I may allude to what has been said, although, while the attempt has been made to fix upon me the responsibility of all that has been done, the parties very well know that of the only two points on which they rest their charge,—the one relating to scholarships is confuted by the minutes; the other relating to examinations is shown by the Appendix, printed in the Journals of the House of Assembly, for 1856, to have been confined to 1854.

With these remarks, Sir, I proceed immediately to the subjects which claim the special attention of the Committee, and shall notice in the first place the pretensions and statements of Dr. Wilson alone; in the second, the statements common to both Drs. Wilson and Langton; in the third place my own estimates for the expenses of erecting buildings suited to a Provincial University; and, lastly, the questions which demand the decision and consideration of the Committee. I am to notice, then, in the first place, the pretensions and statements of Dr. Wilson alone. He placed himself before you as the Representative of University College, while he adverted to Mr. Langton as the Representative of the Senate. Sir, the assumptions Dr. Wilson made, as well as the manner in which he referred to others, are not unworthy the attention of Committee, or without their proper moral and useful lessons. Dr. Wilson, in the first place, made an eulogy on the Faculty of University College. He spoke of each member of the Faculty as characterised by some superior attainments and excellencies, and described himself, last but not least, as a man who had attained some distinction in his own country before he came to "this Canada of ours"—(his favorite expression). After this description, he said to you;—Are not we fit to be entrusted with determining the College education of your youth, one of us being from Edinburgh, another from Oxford, another from London, another from Cambridge, another from Dublin, and another from Padua, the city of "relics?" We, he continued, have anxiously devised a system of Education, and sometimes we have sat up until after midnight in doing so. This is the assumption, this the basis of many of the subsequent remarks addressed by that gentleman to the Committee. Now, Sir, I think that Dr. Wilson, and the other gentlemen to whom he referred, from whose attainments and abilities I wish to detract nothing, must themselves admit that they came to this country as teachers—the one of English literature and language; the rest of certain other branches. He, however, seems to think they did not come for that purpose only, but for the more noble, exalted, almost legislative purpose of giving to the people of Canada a system of collegiate instruction. Dr. Wilson says,—Shall not we be entrusted with determining this question—we all graduates, we all men from old Universities, and will you pretend, people of Canada, to dictate to us, learned persons, what kind of superior education shall be adopted for the training of your youth? Sir, I went to Europe for the purpose of obtaining persons qualified for special work, but I did not go to them to dictate the kind of education to be given here or the manner of giving it. I procured them to carry out a system already devised for this country, not to dictate one to us, much less to do so in the assuming tone in which these words were addressed to you the other day. I think these gentlemen, whatever may be their talents, whatever may be their attainments, mistook considerably the purpose for which they were brought to this country, when they set themselves up for judges as to what kind of Superior Education the people should receive from them. The people of this country have devised a system for themselves, and these gentlemen were brought here as instruments to carry it out. When they depart from the position of laborers in the work appointed and assume to be dictators, they sadly mistake their office. There are, however, other persons besides Dr. Wilson, who think that because they have come across the Atlantic, they are alone wise, and that Canadians are to accept blindly the dictatorial dogmas they may put forth. Sir, although our country may be young, yet the intellect of a country does not depend upon its age. There may be a vigor of intellect, a self-reliance, an energy and perseverance in the very youth of a country, that will not bow down to exotic dictation or assumption. The people of Upper Canada know their own wants, and did not send to one gentleman from Edinburgh, another from London, &c., to tell them what kind of education they shall have. But I doubt whether Dr. Wilson has been authorized by his colleagues to make such assumptions, especially by the President of the College, who, I believe, has reluctantly submitted to much that has been done in regard to both the standard of matriculation and the system of Options. Then, Sir, in pursuance of the same line of remarks, the same kind of assumption, Dr. Wilson told you that I was altogether incompetent to decide upon questions of this kind. Dr. Ryerson, he said, was not a graduate, had never enjoyed the advantage of a College education, and was to be blamed for dealing with subjects the details of which he did not comprehend. Now the principle which lies at the foundation of this assumption and imputation is, that no man who has not been trained up in a University is able to judge or decide upon anything that pertains to University College,—an assumption which, I am sure, will not be very readily submitted to by the people of “this Canada of ours”. A man, Sir, may never have graduated at a University; and yet have acquired more knowledge than half its graduates. Going within the walls of a College is one thing, and pursuing the subjects of enquiry and investigation involved in a College course is another; and that man who pretends that one who has not gone to College is unacquainted with what are the proper subjects of a Collegiate education, and incapable of judging of the course which should be studied, is a man who must stand before us, in this respect at least, as one of the “relics” of past ages, who will not be much tolerated in this our day. If I am on this account proscribed from being connected with the direction of University education, I stand on the same ground with the late Sir James and Andrew Stuart of Quebec, two minds that adorned the horizon of this country with a splendour unequalled in our day. I stand on common ground with Archdeacon Bethune, of Cobourg, one of the most refined men of the country; on common ground with the late Hon. Robert Baldwin, one of the most patriotic men of Canada, whose memory we all revere. I stand too in the same position as the late Sir James Macaulay, one of the most learned and indefatigable jurists that ever sat on the bench of Upper Canada; on common ground with the Chancellor of Toronto University, Judge Burns; so that if I am to be proscribed from deciding on this question, the Chancellor himself is an intruder on the ground he now occupies. I stand on common ground with Sir J. B. Robinson, the Chief Justice of Upper Canada, one of the most accomplished men, the finest intellects, the most profound jurists of our day, of whom Sir Robert Peel said on one occasion, “he was the cleverest man he ever met.” Then, Sir, if this assumption be true, what business has the Committee with the question before it? There is but one member of it a graduate, the Hon. Mr. Cayley, and all the others must sit down in silence and leave the report to his dictation, inspired by the gentlemen of whom he is the “organ”. For what business have you laymen, who never graduated at a University, with the affairs of the Educational Institutions of our country? You are not competent, you are undertaking to decide a question of which you can know nothing! On that principle too, I may ask, what business have legal and farming gentlemen upstairs to deal with the mercantile business of the country? How are merchants and farmers to judge of laws? They are not lawyers, they never studied in a Lawyer’s office or passed an examination for admission as Barristers. Let them sit down then and receive their laws at the hands of the learned gentlemen of the bar. What business have Mr. Galt and other gentlemen to interfere with questions of political economy—they were never at a College where political economy was taught, so that what can they know about it? What business has the whole Legislature of Canada to deal with any questions of civil polity—perhaps not one of them ever attended a course of lectures on Civil Polity? If you proscribe me, you proscribe Parliament itself from judging of Civil Polity,

Political Economy, Jurisprudence, for its members never were at institutions where they were taught! That, Sir, is the doctrine the learned Professor of History in University College has announced to the members of this Committee for the guidance of themselves and of the country! That, Sir, is the new legal light that emanates from University College! I congratulate the learned gentleman on the discovery he has made, the light he is pouring "on this Canada of ours." Then, Sir, I have only to add on this branch of the subject, that you have but to carry the argument a step farther, and ask what claim that gentleman himself has to support his pretensions? Is he a graduate himself? His own evidence shewed yesterday that he had never passed even a matriculation examination, that he took no degree at Edinburgh, and that the degree he holds is purely honorary, like my own. If Dr. Cook were here he could tell you that there is no matriculation examination at Edinburgh, and no examination at all until the degree is taken. Meanwhile, the students attend the lectures of the Professors of Greek, Latin, &c., for so many terms, so many days in each term, and then get certificates from those Professors as to their diligence in attending. So unsatisfactory is this plan that the Church of Scotland would not admit it as a qualification for their ministers—they themselves require a literary as well as a theological examination from their students before they will admit them to be intellectually qualified for the service of the church. I might have gone up to Edinburgh, attended a few lectures here and a few lectures there, and come out again with the assumption that you people of Canada knew nothing about what is proper as a system of education. I feel reluctant to prosecute this subject, but when a gentleman has assailed me on this ground, I throw back the charge, and I say that it ill become him to make either imputations or assumptions of this description. Sir, I have no hesitation at all in comparing what I have done for my native land with what that gentleman has done for his, and our claims to the gratitude of our respective countries. He, to be sure, has published a book, but it was a book upon "relics," a book upon antiquities; and I have myself seen in Edinburgh a museum of "relics" arranged by him. He has a peculiar affinity for subjects of that description, and in his leisure moments in this country has devoted himself to the disembowelling the cemeteries of the Indian tribes, in seeking up the tomahawks, pipes and tobacco which may be found there, and writing essays upon them. But look to my efforts, my period of labor for 35 years, and say whether the imputations of that gentleman are deserved. I can appeal to the representatives of the Provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, whether they have not availed themselves of the labor I have performed in this country for the education of our youth. I can appeal to the Australian Colonies, where my regulations and School Act have been published under the auspices of the Government. The Secretary of the Province of Adelaide lately visited this country in order to make further enquiries with a view of introducing our whole system as far as possible in connection with the Municipal system of those Countries. I appeal to the Province of New Brunswick, the land of my sainted mother. Five years ago I went down thither as one of a Commission to investigate their Collegiate system, which had been the subject of litigation as keen as that which was connected with King's College in this country. I prepared a report at the request of the authorities, and drafted a bill. The Government that was then in power went out, another came in—and I received but a few weeks since a letter from the present Attorney General there, saying that the bill I prepared five years ago had been sanctioned by the Legislature, and, being reserved for the Royal Assent, had received the approbation of Her Majesty. Although I am not a graduate of a University, and should be therefore excluded under the proscriptive principle of the gentleman who has attacked me, from meddling with Universities at all, I have made this contribution to the furtherance of Superior Education in our neighboring Province. Why should I speak of the Common School system I have been mainly concerned in introducing here? I will only say that Lord Lansdowne, that Nestor of British statesmen, observed some years ago, that no greater blessing could be conferred upon England than transplanting to it the Canadian system, but that such was the state of public opinion they could do nothing more at present than grant aid to the Denominations, for the elementary education of the people. I think the public can judge between me and the gentleman who has recently come to this country, as to the assumptions he has made, and the imputations he has taken the liberty to pour upon me. I may say this much more, that a salary of £350 sterling would not take me from my country and carry me to one, the very currency of which I did not know when I accepted the appointment.

I turn now to a complaint which it took the gentleman twenty minutes to make, that an ephemeral article in a pamphlet of his was not fairly quoted by me. He says I omitted the first paragraph of it, and ought not to represent him as the advocate of classical studies as the means of giving the best university education. Did I misrepresent him as such? No. The two extracts from what he terms his ephemeral article—and during his apology for himself he seemed to be ashamed of it, as though it came in unpleasant contact with his present views, and he were anxious to disclaim it before he entered into criticism upon it—are such as to show that I did not. The heading of the first is “Mode of Teaching,” and it shows that gentlemen who came from Oxford and Cambridge were not thought to be relics of a past age by Dr. Wilson then, whatever they may be thought of by him now, for in that article they are held up as the most successful teachers of any country. Here is the extract in question:—

“No Institutions in the world turn out a greater number of highly qualified teachers on the subjects specially cultivated by them. Apart from the Tutors, public and private, numbering hundreds, within the circuit of the two Universities, Oxford and Cambridge provide professors and teachers, in their own special departments of classics and mathematics, to the great majority of the public schools of England and the Colonies. The Colleges of London, Manchester, Birmingham and Durham, all the great public schools, and even mathematical and classical chairs of the Scottish Universities, are supplied from the ancient seats of learning on the Cam and the Isis. The English College Tutor again is precisely what we term in Canadian or American Institutions a Professor; his functions in no degree differ, and the more our Canadian Professor imitates the thoroughness of the English College Tutor in his mode of instruction, the better will it be for the future scholarship of the Province.” Again, as to the other extract, how was it headed? “The Modern Languages no substitute for Ancient.” He complained that it was not taken into account by me, that he was then speaking of an honor man who had graduated in Yale College, gone to Europe, entered Cambridge, and graduated there again. Well, speaking of that superior man he said:—

“To such a man of ripe mind and studious habits the acquisition of a modern language, such as the French or Italian, is a mere pastime, and the German only a pleasant task. What would he say to the substitution of them by our University reformers as equivalent to the Greek and Latin—the sole key to all the treasures of theology, philosophy and science.”

Now, Sir, what is the argument of the gentleman? It is that for a man of these superior attainments, it would be improper to substitute the modern for the ancient languages. But if it be wrong for a man of superior knowledge, is it not wrong for one of inferior attainments? If it is wrong for a man who has made these profound acquirements in Greek and Latin, would it not be worse for one who, like Mr. Langton, has taken no honors at all, but went out in the "poll,"—a class of students too low to have their names appear in the calendar? If the argument is strong in the one case, it is much stronger in the other, and I am not at all surprised that Dr. Wilson felt a bashfulness in coming to that passage. Then he says Yale is much inferior to the English Universities, and Harvard no better than Yale, and thinks it strange that I have held them up as superior to Toronto University. That just makes my argument the stronger. If the Toronto Institution is inferior to Harvard and Yale, and Harvard and Yale inferior to Cambridge or London, or Oxford, much more then is Toronto inferior to the English Universities. Instead of an objection, the remark is therefore a confirmation of my argument, and refutes the assertions made by the gentleman himself. He says, indeed, to be sure, that books are no guide by which we are to judge of a standard in the matter. I am quite sure of that, but I feel confident of my ground when I say that the standing of Harvard College, and of the learned and practical men connected with it, are quite as good a security that the books they put forth are required to be understood by the candidates coming before them, as there is that the books put forth by University College are also required to be thoroughly studied. Any imputation on the integrity of the heads of Harvard College must go for what it is worth. The practical and old, and conservative New Englanders who have set their faces against the extremes which have been forced on the people of Upper Canada by the men from Padua, Edinburgh and London, are at least as good judges as the latter of what is a proper system for the education of youth.

The gentleman then made merry with the personal appearance of Provost Whitaker, of Trinity College, and of the Rev. Mr. Ambury, and thought the Committee must have been much amused to see those "relics of the dark ages." I am quite surprised that a remark of that kind should emanate from such a source. One of these gentlemen had taken classical and mathematical honors at Cambridge; the other classical honors at Oxford. They came here for the purpose of giving evidence on certain topics which had been brought before this Committee, and which could not otherwise be verified. Dr. Wilson has himself written books on antiquities, and it came very ill from him thus to refer to those two gentlemen. He attempted, too, to be quite witty as to the terms used during their examination, "Responsions," "Previous Examinations," "Tripos," &c. Now, these terms had been brought forward and are contained in the statement of Mr. Langton himself, two or three days before the words ever passed my lips, and that without explanation. The two gentlemen in question were brought before the Committee to explain them, and how they applied to the comparative standard of education in England and Canada. They told us what was meant by Responsions at Oxford, by Previous Examinations at Cambridge, and made clear to us benighted Canadians the application of those terms which had been introduced by Mr. Langton himself. Dr. Wilson's wit, therefore, when he referred to those profound words which he said must imply a vast deal of learning, was mis-spent, pointless as it was, and did not reach those gentlemen, who, I am persuaded, stand as far before him in accomplishments and profound scholarship as they stand below him in pretensions. He then said the Oxford education was not fitted for the practical duties of life, and went on to deal with the subject at some length. I do not stand here as the advocate of the Oxford system of education, but I do advocate something of the thoroughness and the disciplinary training practiced on the young men who go to Oxford; and if the Oxford education does not fit men for their practical duties, then what is the meaning of his own words, that there are no men who can compare with those of Oxford and Cambridge in teaching youth either the highest or the lowest departments? The gentleman's written testimony stands against his present assertions. Does not Oxford fit men for positions of the first order in connection with the law? We can appeal to the long array of eminent lawyers and jurists who drew their first inspiration within the halls of that University. Does not Oxford training fit men by its mental discipline for the practical duties of statesmanship? Has not Oxford given us a Baring, a Cardwell, a Spring Rice, a Labouchère, a Canning, a Lord Elgin, a Sir George Cornwall Lewis, a Sir Robert Peel, a Gladstone—men the glory of any age and of any country. And surely he could not have thought, when he said Oxford training did not fit men for the practical duties of life, of Mr. Cayley, an Oxford man, to whom the phrase was not at all complimentary, nor of His Excellency, who was for some time a Tutor and Examiner at Oxford. I dare say, though, Mr. Brown would have agreed with his expression of opinion in these last cases. I submit these facts as to the Oxford education, which may not fit men to dig for Indian “relics,” but does fit them for practical duties and labors which will perpetuate their names when searchers after Indian relics will have been forgotten.

Sir, I will conclude my remarks on this point by quoting an authority much higher than that of Dr. Wilson, namely, the Report of the Commissioners on Civil Service Examinations for India. These Commissioners, consisting of Lord Macaulay, Lord Ashburton, Rev. H. Melville, Professor Jewett, Mr. Shaw Lefevre, (late Speaker of the House of Commons,) do not recommend options to students at the end of the first year of their Collegiate course, with a view of pursuing special studies. Their words are as follows :

“We believe that men who have been engaged, up to 21 or 22, in studies which have no immediate connexion with the business of any profession, and of which the effect is merely to open, to invigorate and to enrich the mind, will generally be found, in the business of every profession, superior to men who have, at 18 or 19, devoted themselves to the special studies of their calling. The most illustrious English jurists have been men who had never opened a law-book until after the close of a distinguished academical career. Nor is there any reason to believe that they would have been greater lawyers if they had passed in drawing pleas and conveyances the time which they gave to Thucydides, to Cicero, and to Newton.” * * * “Skill in Greek and Latin versification has, indeed, no direct tendency to form a judge, a financier, or a diplomatist. But the youth who does best, what all the ablest and most ambitious youths about him are trying to do well, will generally prove a superior man. Nor can we doubt that an accomplishment by which Fox and Canning, Grenville and Wellesley, Mansfield and Tenterden first distinguished themselves above their fellows, indicates powers of mind which, properly trained and directed, may do great service to the State.”

Then, Sir, Dr. Wilson gives you a homily on Scottish University Colleges ; says I have mistaken their character ; that I do not know anything about them—for that they are non-denominational. And he then grew almost eloquent in speaking of Scotland as a country of brotherly love, where none of the sectarian feeling exists that characterizes “this Canada of ours,” since the students of all creeds are there educated together, and go forth as one united company for the advancement and welfare of their native land. I recollected, when he uttered those sentiments, what I had read in a book called “Essays on Christian Union,” and I found it in the library of Dr. Cook. Here is an extract from it, written by a Presbyterian Minister in Scotland, in one of the prize Essays on Christian Union :

“In no country where religious freedom is enjoyed, is party spirit more prevalent. In some it is more offensively displayed, and more deeply tinged with malevolence ; but in none is it more widely spread and more tenacious of its little peculiarities.” * * * * * “This hot and schismatic spirit, which to a greater or less extent pervades all the religious parties in Scotland, does not spring from great conscientious differences as to doctrine or Church order. The Church of Scotland, the Reformed Synod, the Secession Church, the Relief, the United Original Seceders, and the Free Church, are all Presbyterian in their ecclesiastical polity; agree in their doctrine, worship, discipline, government, and ecclesiastical forms of procedure. The Westminster Confession of Faith and its two catechisms, are the principal standards of them all. It is only in a very few points, and these not points that touch a sinner's salvation, that they are at variance one from another. Nay, farther, the Independents, Congregationalists, Baptists, Methodists and Moravians, all teach the doctrine of justification by faith in the atonement of Jesus; so that it may be affirmed that the doctrines of the cross are preached with more or less fidelity, by nineteen out of every twenty ministers in Scotland; and yet there is scarcely such a thing as two ministers of different denominations exchanging pulpits with each other. In the most of parties there are laws strictly forbidding it. Were a minister in some denominations to venture upon the extraordinary step, he would likely be rebuked by his Presbytery; and, if he did not confess a fault, he would be subject to deprivation of office and benefice." (Essay on Christian Union, pp. 387-388.—Rev. Gavin Struthers, Glasgow, D. D.)

I am sure no one can say that the denominational Colleges in "this Canada of ours" do not engender feelings of much greater brotherly love than those set forth in this extract as obtaining in a country where, the hon. gentleman says, there are no denominational Colleges at all. Although in that point, as well as in some others, his history is a little astray, and the denominational test the professors were required to subscribe has only been abolished within the last few years. Then he refers to the non-denominational Colleges of Ireland and England. He says:—

"The system pursued by the British Parliament in all recent reforms in higher education, as exemplified not only by the new Scottish University Act, but also by the establishment of the Queen's University in Ireland, and the London University in England, abundantly proves how thoroughly British statesmen are alive to the importance of the members of a free community receiving their secular education in national rather than denominational institutions, and being thereby trained to co-operate in all the great public duties that devolve on a free people."

The Colleges of Ireland, Sir, though by their constitution they are non-denominational, yet for practical purposes they are made to partake to a great extent of that character, owing to the composition of their Faculties. The College in the North, at Belfast, has for the most part Presbyterian Professors at its head. Cork is chiefly Roman Catholic; Galway, chiefly Church of England. Thus the views and preferences of the various classes of the community are met. But the gentleman refers especially to the London University as showing the views of British statesmen in training up the youth of its different denominations together in the course of their College education. What is, however, the fact? Of over forty Literary Institutions and Colleges in England which are affiliated with the London University, and apart from the Medical and Law Schools, there are only two or three that are non-denominational, of which University College is the chief. The very object of the establishment of London University was to offer facilities for training up young men in these denominational colleges. Here is the calendar wherein we read as affiliated institutions; "The Wesleyan Institution, Sheffield; "the Wesleyan Institution, Taunton;" two or three Baptist, two or three Presbyterian Colleges, two or three of the Church of England—the young men who receive education in these, going up to the University of London for the purpose of receiving their degrees.

It is not a little singular that the non-denominational college, at first constituting the University, is now as distinct from it as any of the others. Its supporters, it should be also remarked, do not sponge upon the English Government for the maintenance of it. Its own resources, arising from voluntary contributions, like those of the Wesleyan, Congregational, and Baptist Colleges, are made to pay for its buildings, and it does not receive one farthing from the State. Let the advocates of non-denominational colleges here put themselves in a similar position, let them put their shoulders to the wheel in the same way—let them pay, individually, as I have paid within the last two or three years to my friend Mr. Poole, some £150 as a contribution to Victoria College—and others have paid more in proportion to their means than I have. Let them beg, as I did in England, some $25,000 in 1835 and 1836, and then meet their fellow subjects face to face. Why, University College is the most complete free school in Upper Canada, the whole Province being taxed for it, while its advocates do not contribute a farthing towards its expenses. For Dr. Wilson to allow the buildings of his institution to be quietly erected for him, and then come forward and exclaim against us, denounce us for asserting our right to a single farthing from the State, is a course of proceeding quite original with himself and his friends, and worthy of their cause.

[Dr. Ryerson here handed in a list of the Colleges affiliated to London University, and said that if the history Dr. Wilson taught his classes were generally as faulty as his facts about the non-denominational character of the Colleges affiliated to the London University, his pupils could not be very much edified by his prelections. He then continued :]

Dr. Wilson says, further, that Cambridge and Oxford are denominational, in contradistinction to the Scottish Universities. It is very well known that, in past times, they were to a great extent close Universities, but years ago religious tests were abolished at Cambridge. He seems, however, to be ignorant of this, as also of the changes which have taken place at Oxford, and I will, therefore, read part of the Statute of the British Parliament abolishing tests for students there :

“From and after the first day of Michaelmas term, 1854, it shall not be necessary for any person upon matriculating in the University at Oxford, to make or subscribe any declaration, or to take any oath, any law or statute to the contrary notwithstanding.—(17th and 18th Vic. cap. 81, sec. XLIII.)

“From and after the first day of Michaelmas term, 1854, it shall not be necessary for any person, when taking the degree of Bachelor in Arts, Law, Medicine or Music, in the University of Oxford, to make or subscribe any declaration, or take any oath, any law or statute to the contrary, notwithstanding.”—(Sec. XLIV.)

So, Sir, even at Oxford itself, that Alma Mater of the “Relics of the dark ages,” this test has been abolished. In the Scottish Universities, while the test has been done away with too, the Church of Scotland has a Theological Faculty, just as the Church of England has Theological Professors at Oxford. Dr. Wilson then says that the absence of a test in our Victoria College is “a mere play upon words,” and expresses himself thus :

“Credit has been repeatedly claimed of late by Victoria College, that it has no tests, but such a statement is a mere play upon words; what real difference is there between requiring that a Professor shall sign the prescribed creed of a Church,—be it the 39 articles or the Westminster Confession of faith; or that he shall satisfy the Wesleyan Conference or other Ecclesiastical Court. In reality the latter is the more stringent of the two. There is, of course, no test for students. It is only too well known that not in Methodist Colleges only, but also

"in Roman Catholic Colleges, all are welcome who are prepared to submit to their teaching."

The spirit of the last sentence in this passage is kindred to that of the Globe, in its palmy days of High Protestantism, and the insinuation involved in it against Victoria College cannot be misunderstood. Victoria College has been in operation some 25 years; it has not to acquire its character from the testimony of the learned gentleman this day. It has performed its work—a work that sinks deeply into the hearts of the people of Upper Canada—and has given many a spotless mind, a vigorous character, a patriotic heart to the country. And what is the fact with regard to its operations? There have not only been students there, of all religious persuasions, but, during the last 25 years, even the most slanderous papers of Canada have never written a single paragraph as to the proselytizing influences of that College. Not only students, but professors of the Church of England, and of the Presbyterian Church have been connected with it, and amongst others, I may mention the Rev'd Mr. Ormiston, who was not only a student there, but who, although a Presbyterian, afterwards became a Professor. Thus it may be seen what kind of test, what kind of surveillance the Wesleyan Conference has exerted over Victoria College. That body has never interfered with the appointments of the Board, which appoints and removes the Professors, and is composed equally of laymen and ministers. I rejoice that I was the instrument of getting for Victoria College, in 1836, the first Royal Charter ever given to any religious body in the colony not connected with the Church of England; though in doing so, I differed in opinion from the late venerable Dr. Bunting, he objecting to regard it as a Wesleyan College, because its Charter prohibited any religious test. I may say that the spirit of that clause has been acted upon to this day. When I was connected with Victoria College, there was a Roman Catholic student there—there are two there now—and as much care was taken, and is taken, and the authority of the College is as much exercised to provide, that students of other creeds should have religious instruction as the Wesleyans, from ministers of their own Church.

Then, Sir, Dr. Wilson impugns another statement of mine, not on his own authority, but on that of Mr. Langton, in whom he says he has full confidence, as to the comparative efficiency as teachers of Grammar Schools of the graduates of University College, and those of other Colleges. And he presented a formal indictment against me to the Attorney-General for Upper Canada, drawing his attention, as an adviser of the Crown, to what I had said. The intention of the appeal was manifest. It was with a view to my dismissal from office. Sir, if my official position depended upon the course I have taken in this question, I should take the course I now take, and cast office and its emoluments to the winds, sooner than abandon the rights and interests of a people with whom I have been associated from my youth. But, Sir, I think the Ministers of the Crown are not such men as the gentleman imagines. Nevertheless, I take my stand, and I will bear the consequences. If my office depends on the course I pursue this day, let it go, and let me betake myself to the kind of labor in which the sympathies of my heart, especially at my period of life, are most deeply enlisted. He tells you my statement must be incorrect, and quotes what he says is an expression of the Rev'd Mr. Ormiston's. Sir, I should require better testimony than that, to believe that Mr. Ormiston would say anything to my disparagement. I refer to the reports of the Inspectors, which give their opinions, and these, as the members of the Committee may see, bear out the truth of my remarks. I doubt whether Mr. Ormiston used the expression attributed to him—here is his Report, and the Report of Mr. Cockburn too, both speaking for themselves. I cannot give implicit credit to the statement of the gentleman upon the subject, because, in the same speech he introduced the name of the Hon. J. C. Morrison as a witness that I had supported and voted for measures to which I now object. I took the liberty yesterday, of putting, through the Chairman, a question to Mr. Morrison on the subject, whether he remembered these proceedings. What was his answer? That he did not recollect them, nor the course I pursued. I leave the Committee to decide between the gentleman's assertion the other day and the testimony of Mr. Morrison. And if he was so far wrong as to his statement of what Mr. Morrison said, it is not too much to assume that he may have been as far wrong in regard to the imputations he ascribes to Mr. Ormiston. The learned Professor has remarkable facility in appealing to private conversations in support of his position. He has referred to private conversations, not only with Messrs. Ormiston and Morrison, but with myself, although when or where, I have no idea, as I never called upon him in my life, on any educational matter. He used to pop into my office sometimes on various pretexts. What passed, I know not; but I cannot permit the gentleman to be the interpreter of my views in private conversations sought by himself, any more than I can pass without rebuke, the conduct which, without the permission of the parties concerned, publicly retails, for party purposes, its own versions of private conversations. If such a violation of the conventional laws of private life is tolerated, no man's character is safe. I have now done for the present with the learned gentleman, and I hope I may ask him, as he sneeringly asked Mr. Nelles, after his cross-examination, "are you satisfied?"

[Reply to Mr. Langton and Dr. Wilson, in connection with each other.]

Now, Sir, I address myself to the statements, common both to Mr. Langton and Dr. Wilson, and I have grouped them under distinct heads, that the Committee's attention may be the more easily directed to the salient points of this question. First, they both agree as to the law on this subject; they both say that the law could not have intended anything of the kind I assert. Mr. Langton says that "Mr. Baldwin's Act of 1849, required every person to go to Toronto for Collegiate education," while Mr. Hincks's Act of 1853, "provided that Students might be educated wherever they pleased." What is the common sense, honest inference from that? Does not this admitted object of Mr. Hincks's Bill, imply, that young men shall be as much encouraged to pursue their education elsewhere, as in Toronto? How can this be done, unless the Colleges they attend, are equally aided with that at Toronto—how can they be equally encouraged in other parts of the Province, as in Toronto, while you say to them at the same time "though you may pursue your studies elsewhere, you shall not receive a sixpence, unless you come here; you may strive after education where you please, but you must starve unless you come to Toronto." No! the law means to say that the youth of Upper Canada shall be equally aided during their whole course of training, wherever carried on. I have a better opinion of the Legislature, than to think they intended to encourage youth in pursuing studies, in various parts of the Province, without placing the institutions in which they are to be educated, on equal footing, as regards Public aid. It is as absurd as it is unjust and insulting to the parties educating their youth in Colleges, in different parts of the Province, to pretend as the law says, that "they shall be encouraged" to do so, and yet to discourage them from doing so, as the law has been administered, by refusing aid to any College but one, in Toronto. The people never asked, or thought of asking, to be tolerated to educate their youth "in various parts of the Province." They always had that right. The law did not pretend to give them a right which they already possessed, but to "encourage" them in the exercise of it. The spirit and objects of the law are the very reverse of Mr. Langton and Dr. Wilson's interpretations of it. Mr. Langton says, "The Senate has done nothing to prevent Students from coming to Toronto University for degrees." What a great privilege is this, when the degrees are but the dicta of the Professors of University College! To talk of the Students of other University Colleges going to Toronto for degrees, under such circumstances, is only to add insult to injury. The degrees of these University Colleges can suffer nothing in comparison with the degrees conferred at Toronto University, especially since young men can get a degree there, with attainments in Classics and Mathematics, scarcely above those required for Matriculation in former years, when the Hon. Mr. Allan and others of his time, pursued their Collegiate studies. What is required to "encourage" youth (as the law expresses it) to "prosecute and complete their studies in other institutions in various parts of the Province," is not going to Toronto for degrees at the end of their course, but aid in the prosecution of studies during that course; aid in the acquisition of what is necessary for degrees. To offer a man the latter, without aiding him to do the former, is like offering a man the title of M. P. P., if he will find a constituency and get himself elected to Parliament. Degrees, especially such as are now given at Toronto, are scarcely worth going for; the only thing of real value is the Collegiate education of which a degree should be a symbol. It is the substance, not the mere shadow, which the law intended for the "various parts of the Province;" otherwise, it was a mockery and an insult, which the Legislature could never have perpetrated upon the country.

I next address myself to the question of the University building and expenditures. The first inquiry is, did the law authorize the erection of such buildings, the purchase of a Library and Museum? Mr. Langton appealed to the Act, 16 Vic., cap. 161; but that Act simply speaks of the erection of Government buildings, and has not the slightest reference to the erection of University buildings, any more than has the Act authorising the erection of public buildings at Ottawa. There is therefore not a shadow of legal authority for the erection of the University buildings in the Act to which Mr. Langton has referred as having passed contemporaneously with the University Act. The authority, therefore, for the erection of these buildings must be found, if it exist at all, in the University Act, and to this Mr. Langton has not ventured to appeal. The phraseology of this Act, in contrast with that of the former Charter and Act, is worthy of special notice. In the former Charter and Act, the provisions for the erection of buildings, &c., are full and explicit; in the present University Act, the guarded and qualified phrases, "current expenses," "ordinary repairs," "permanent improvements and additions to the buildings on said property," are employed instead of the full and explicit authority for the erection of buildings, &c., given by the former Charter and Act. This difference of phraseology alone in the Acts referred to, is conclusive as to the design of the present Act. I confess that until within the last two years or so, I had no doubt as to authority having been given by the present Act for the erection of buildings and all other purposes for which the Senate has recommended expenditures. I knew the scope and design of the present Act; but I did not know that the powers of the Senate had been limited on the subject of buildings, &c., until some two years since, when I heard that a legal gentleman in Toronto had expressed an opinion that the Senate had no legal authority for the expenditures it was incurring. I then examined the law; and the result was the conviction which I have expressed, and that conviction has been confirmed by the perfect failure of Mr. Langton to adduce a shadow of legal authority for such expenditures, beyond that of alleged necessity and expediency.

He has enlarged upon the importance of a Provincial Library and Museum. Who questions that? But the Library of Parliament is a Provincial Library; and if any other Provincial Library, and a Provincial Museum, be established, a Provincial grant should be made for that purpose. The law, as it appears to me, no more authorizes the purchase of a Provincial Library, and a Provincial Museum, out of a Fund designed for College education, than out of the Funds designed for Grammar and Common School education.

Then as to the extravagance of expenditures, that is a matter of opinion; what may be economical in one case, may be very extravagant in another. The Hon. J. C. Morrison was yesterday called as a witness and asked two questions. The one was, what was the former estimate for the buildings of Old King's College? To which the correct answer was given, two hundred thousand pounds. The second question was, what was the estimate of Chief Justice Draper and others, for the present University College Buildings and Library? The equally correct answer was, one hundred thousand pounds. The Toronto College advocates of expenditures seemed to think the case was settled beyond further dispute; but they forgot that between 1849 and 1853, under Mr. Baldwin's Act, and under Mr. Baldwin's Administration, an estimate was made, a plan adopted, and tenders given in for University Buildings, at the expense not of one or two hundred thousand pounds, but just twenty thousand pounds. I submit that the estimate made under the auspices of Mr. Baldwin's Government is a higher authority than that to which appeal is now made by Mr. Langton. But if the authority of Mr. Baldwin's Government is of no weight, let the example of the Imperial Government speak. That Government, by the liberality of Parliament, has established and erected the buildings for three Queen's Colleges in Ireland. The splendid and spacious buildings of those Colleges, cost, the one at Belfast, £34,357; the other at Cork, £32,899; the third at Galway, £32,743. And yet in each of these Colleges accommodations were provided for the Faculties of Law as well as of Medicine, in addition to the Faculty of Arts, and for the residences of both the Principal and Vice Principal. In the presence of such facts, you may judge of the economy of the Vice Chancellor, and the Senate of the Toronto University, in expending already upwards of $300,000 in buildings for the single Faculty of Arts, and the examinations and conferring degrees by the University. The attendants and all other matters of equipage must, of course, correspond with the magnificence of the Buildings; and therefore you have no less than 45 officers connected with the establishment, eleven professors, and 34 other officers and servants, besides 29 examiners.

Then Mr. Langton complains that we not only object to his expenditures, but that we represent him as auditing his own accounts, and says, that "as Auditor he has no control over the Bursar's Accounts." Who said that "as Auditor," he had such control? What was asserted, and what he now admits, was, that as Vice Chancellor he directed these expenditures, while as Auditor he audited the accounts of them. Mr. Langton, as a pluralist, holds the double office with the double salary of Vice Chancellor and Auditor. As in the case of a former Lieutenant Governor of Upper Canada, who had the habit of granting lands to himself—his Patents running somewhat thus: "I, Peter Russell, Governor, &c., grant to you Peter Russell, Gentleman, &c.;" so, "I, John Langton, Esquire, Vice Chancellor, direct the payment of University moneys for various purposes to the amount of some $400,000; and then I, John Langton, Esquire, Auditor of Public Accounts, audit and I find correct the accounts of moneys which I, John Langton, Esq., Vice Chancellor, have ordered to be expended and paid." This is the financial branch of the University system which Mr. Langton, graduate of Cambridge, has come over from England to establish among us non-graduate Canadians in "this Canada of ours." We being non-graduates of course know not how much money should be expended in the erection of College buildings, or how it should be expended and accounted for; and we must therefore bow in submissive silence and gratitude to the graduate learning and authority, which condescends thus to spend our money for us.

But here, Dr. Wilson adds his authority to that of Mr. Langton. He tells us, that "these College buildings at Toronto are not too good!" and then, quoting from a Wesleyan Committee Pamphlet on the University Question, the words, "History teaches that just in proportion as Greece and Rome lavished their resources upon stone and marble, upon the material and the inanimate, they declined in the intellectual and the moral," the Professor of History became indignant at such non-graduate barbarism, and waxed eloquent in praise of "stone and marble," reciting in long array the names of famous Greeks, whose original works he never read, and declaring that the greatest age of Greece—the age of Pericles—was an age of "stone and marble" magnificence. But the learned Professor seemed to have forgotten that in that very age were deposited seeds whose fruit ripened in the decline of Grecian intellect and greatness. He forgot that the golden age of Rome under Augustus and his immediate successors—during which the resources of an Empire were lavished on the magnificence of a city—was followed by a silver age, and that by an iron age. He forgot that from the age of Louis the Fourteenth—the golden age of French magnificence and pomp—commenced the decline of the moral and intellectual grandeur of France. Why, if Dr. Wilson's doctrine be true, we have only to pave our streets with stone and build our houses with marble, in order to become the greatest people of America! We have seen individuals practise this doctrine by lavishing their resources in erecting and furnishing magnificent buildings, and how great they soon became!—Yes, great in poverty, and their families great in wretchedness.

Such is the practical and doctrinal economy of Mr. Langton and Dr. Wilson, in regard to University buildings and expenditures. But in the midst of this scene of "stone and marble" magnificence, Mr. Langton becomes liberal, and Dr. Wilson economical—the latter thinking that something may be saved from the endowment, and the former, that a surplus may be given to the Grammar Schools. What a pity that this fit of liberality to the Grammar Schools had not seized Mr. Langton some years sooner, before his expenditures on buildings at Toronto had reduced the income of the University some £6,000 per annum, and when £50,000 might have been given to the Grammar Schools, and then £40,000 left for buildings, and yet the Income Fund equal to what it is now.

I next advert to what has been admitted and pleaded in regard to the Standard of Matriculation, or of admission to University College. It is admitted that the standard has been lowered—so much so, that Mr. Langton says in his memorial to the Legislature, that "the true standard of comparison should have been between the former Matriculation examination and the present examination at the end of the first year." The fact, therefore, alleged by the Petitioners on this point is admitted to its full extent. Mr. Langton assigns as one reason for this reduction, that "the high standard of Matriculation in King's College, was a subject of loud complaint;" and Dr. Wilson has said, that "the standard of Matriculation in old King's College, was equal to a degree in the Scottish Universities,"—thereby admitting that his college course did not advance beyond that of a Canadian youth matriculating in old King's College. Now, as to Mr. Langton's statement, I venture to say that not a member of this Committee, nor a man in Upper Canada, ever before heard a complaint against old King's College on account of its high standard of matriculation. The sole objection to old King's College, was its connexion with one religious persuasion and the alleged expense of it. And I will show that Mr. Langton himself never thought of such a reason for reducing the standard of matriculation until very recently. King's College ceased to exist as such in 1849, when Mr. Baldwin's Bill creating King's College into Toronto University was passed. The parties who had chiefly contributed to establish King's College, refused all connexion with Toronto University, and soon commenced the establishment of the present Trinity College in Toronto. The Senate of Toronto University was constituted by the appointment of several new members—myself among the number. Now if there were a shadow of truth in Mr. Langton's statement, that "the high standard of Matriculation in King's College was a subject of loud complaint," steps would have been immediately taken by the Senate appointed by Mr. Baldwin's Administration to lower that standard; yet during the operations of Mr. Baldwin's Act from 1849 to 1853, not a word was heard in the Senate or elsewhere about lowering the standard of Matriculation, which remained precisely as it was in King's College. Then when the present University Act was passed in 1853, intended to separate University College from Toronto University, (but which have strangely got together again, contrary to the avowed objects and express provisions of the Act), and a new Senate constituted, including Mr. Langton himself, the whole course of studies was considered and revised, yet the standard of Matriculation was actually raised instead of being lowered. In the subjects of the old King's College Matriculation, the same Books were prescribed. The only change was, substituting the word "or" for "and" between Xenophon and Lucian, and extending the examination in Roman History from Augustus to Nero, and adding the Elements of Chemistry and Natural Philosophy. Thus the standard of Matriculation in King's College remained unchanged, except being slightly raised, until 1857, when a new and anti-classical element, of which Dr. Wilson was the most active ingredient, was introduced into the Senate; and that is the secret of a full year's reduction in the standard of Matriculation, and that some three years after (according to the returns) the lengthening of the period of study from three to four years. These facts, therefore, entirely disprove Mr. Langton's statement as to the loud complaint against the high standard of Matriculation in King's College, as also his other statement, that the standard of Matriculation was lowered when the period of study was extended from three to four years.

Mr. Langton contends, but without proof and against fact, that the course of studies has not been reduced, and is not inferior to that of the English Universities, while Dr. Wilson ridicules the idea of our thinking of so high a course of studies as that of the English Universities! The Rev. Mr. Ambery—an honor Oxford man—has stated in evidence his opinion, that the Matriculation examination at Oxford, (called "Responsions") is about equal to that required for an ordinary degree in the Toronto University, and that the second or intermediate examination at Oxford is nearly equal to that required for a degree with honors at the Toronto University. But I shall discuss this part of the subject when I come to the question of options.

I beg now to draw your attention to Mr. Langton's statements, respecting Scholarships. The combined effort to prove that I had supported the proposal to establish Scholarships amounting to $12,000 per annum, having utterly failed, and the statements against me on that point, having been disproved by the official records themselves, it has been abandoned, as also the assertion that the system of Scholarships proposed to be established in 1854, was the same as that now established. I have settled these points in my reply to the statements contained in Mr. Brown's questions. But Mr. Langton has employed much time and space in exhibiting in imposing array, the number of Scholarships established in the Universities in England and Ireland; but singular to say, every one of his quotations is unfair and inapplicable to the purpose for which he adduces them. The object of his quotations is to justify the establishment, at the expense of the University Funds, of a large number of Scholarships in Toronto University, but really, for the benefit of University College, and to the injury of all others; and he so introduces his quotations, and argues from them, as to convey the impression, that the system of Scholarships in England and Ireland is the same as that established at Toronto, whereas the fact is, that the Scholarships to which Mr. Langton has appealed, are not University Scholarships at all, except those of the London University, which he admits to be only nine, (but which he multiplies into forty,) for forty affiliated Colleges in Arts and Law, and seventy in Medicine. The Queen's University in Ireland has not a single Scholarship, and expends only £475 per annum in "Exhibitions, Prizes and Medals," for three Colleges, and in the three Faculties of Arts, Law, and Medicine. The Scholarships in Ireland have not been created by the Queen's University at all, but by Royal Patent to each College separately, and independent of the University, and designed, at the establishment of each of the Colleges, to encourage and enable students to attend them from classes in society in Ireland, where higher education had been little cultivated. For that purpose, a grant to each College was made, of £1500 per annum, and over it the University has no control, nor of the Scholarships established by means of it. To have anything like it in Upper Canada would require a special and separate grant to each College, independent of the University—the very system which Mr. Langton, and Dr.

Wilson oppose, and for which no one has made application. Then, all the University Scholarships at Cambridge are just nineteen, and are as follows: Craven Scholarships, 2; Browne Scholarships, 1; Bell Scholarships, 8; Porson Scholarship, 1; Tyrwhitt Scholarships (Hebrew), 3; Crosse Scholarships (Theological), 3; Pitt Scholarship, 1; in all 19. Not one of these Scholarships was founded by the Government, or the University, but by the individuals whose names they bear, except the Pitt Scholarship, which was founded jointly by the Pitt Club and the subscribers to Pitt's Statue. All the other Scholarships at Cambridge are College (not University) Scholarships, established at various times by individual liberality, for one or other of the seventeen Colleges at Cambridge, and over which the University has no control. The Prizes for the encouragement of literature, whether open to competition for the whole University, or limited to particular colleges, have been established by individual gifts or legacies in the same way. The Cambridge Calendar remarks, that three-fourths of the prizes, free and open to competition for the whole University, are given for Classics and English Composition, and more than half of the annual prizes in the different Colleges are given for the encouragement of Classical Literature,—a branch of learning quite at a discount with Mr. Langton, and Dr. Wilson.

Mr. Langton, quoting the Report of the Royal Cambridge University Commissioners, says, "It appears that at Cambridge, including the Colleges and the University, there are about 645 scholarships, or one to two students." Now, he could not have but known that of these 645 scholarships, only nineteen of them were University Scholarships, not one of them founded out of Public Funds, and all of them in past times by individual beneficence. As abuses have arisen in connection with the Trusts and the application of the funds arising from them, the Royal Commissioners recommend the interposition of Public Authority to correct such abuses, and secure a better application of the income of such gifts and legacies, under the direction, not of the University, but of the Colleges, to which the gifts and legacies belong. Now, it is scholarships thus created, and thus controlled, that Mr. Langton adduces as authority for the system of scholarships established by the Senate at Toronto, out of the University endowment. Nothing can be more unfair and fallacious than such quotations and references, without any intimation whatever as to the origin, character and relations of the scholarships, but with the assumption throughout that the scholarships referred to were analogous in those respects to the scholarships of the Toronto University.

Then Mr. Langton refers to scholarships at Oxford in the same strain, remarking that "at Oxford the information is more precise in some respects, and more capable of comparison with ourselves, as the number of undergraduates holding scholarships is given, as well as the total cost." Now, from the evidence of the Reverend Mr. Ambery, and as may be seen by the Oxford Calendar, which I have here, the University Scholarships of Arts, Law, Hebrew, Sanscrit, &c., do not exceed twenty-three—not one of them founded by the State, but every one of them by private benefactions under special regulations. All the other scholarships are College (not University) Scholarships, founded by individuals during the last few centuries, controlled by each College as a trust, according to the terms of the will or gift in each case. These are the scholarships to which Mr. Langton refers, and it is to the improved management and distribution of the funds arising from those private benefactions to the several Colleges, that the Royal Commissioners refer in their recommendations. But all Mr. Langton's references and quotations convey the impression that these College Scholarships and Fellowships founded by private individuals, are analogous to the Toronto University Scholarships created out of a public endowment. The Royal Commissioners, referring to these scholarships, say: "We have shown that the original object of Foundations was to support poor Students in their education at the University;" and they head the very section from which Mr. Langton makes his extracts in the following words, expressive of the nature and object of the scholarships: "Application of COLLEGE Revenues to stimulate and reward those who have not yet entered the University." The scholarships at Oxford, therefore, are essentially different in their origin, objects, relations and control, from the scholarships established by the Senate of Toronto, and Mr. Langton's quotations and their applications have not been fair to the Committee, any more than they are fair to the public.

I will next notice Mr. Langton's statements, endorsed by Dr. Wilson, in regard to options, or the choice by students of one or more branches of study to the neglect of others. The following is the system of options established at Toronto University College as early as the end of the first year, as given in the Calendar for 1859-60: "Candidates for honors in any department, who have also in the first year obtained University first-class honors, either in Greek, or Latin, or Mathematics, or in both Modern Languages and Natural Sciences, are not required to take any branch in which they have passed the University examination the first year; but such candidates having been only examined in pure Mathematics in the first year, must also take applied Mathematics the second year." Here it will be seen that if a student obtains first-class honors in any one of these subjects at the end of the first year, and only passes the ordinary or pass-examination in the others, he may thenceforward omit them; for a student becomes a first-class honor-man by taking first class honors in one subject only. Thus a student may take a degree, even in honors, with but one year's pass course of study in Classics and Mathematics; and that when, as Mr. Langton has admitted in his Memorial to the Legislature, the standard of examination at the end of the first year is only equal to the examination for Matriculation in former years. And this emasculated and sham system of Collegiate education, Mr. Langton tells you has the sanction of the example of the English and Irish Universities! In the last part of my evidence at my first examination (page 41), I quoted the report of the Queen's College Commissioners, that no options whatever are allowed by the Queen's University in the examination for B. A., in the four subjects of the Latin Language and Literature, the Greek Language and Literature, and a Modern Foreign Language, and Mathematics. Yet, in the face of this express language of the Report which I have quoted, Mr. Langton represents the Queen's University in Ireland as permitting a different system! He says I have partially quoted the Report, that on the page next to that from which I quoted, the Commissioners recommended a change. But, Sir, the Commissioners objected to the system of options proposed to them, and recommended a two-fold examination for a degree—the one embracing the subjects of the first two years' course at the end of two years, and those of the last year's course at the end of that year; and this change in the time and number of the University examinations was recommended with the express view of preventing the system of options in the four essential branches prescribed: for the Commissioners say—"We believe that a general education forms the soundest basis on which pre-eminent merit in particular branches of Literature and Science can rest."

* * * "With the view of securing the proficiency of the Student in all subjects, and at the same time lightening the burden on the Student, who is now obliged to keep up his knowledge in the compulsory as well as optional group to the end of the third year, it has been suggested that a final examination should take place in some of the subjects by University Examiners, within the College walls, at some period before the conclusion of the course. We are of opinion that after the second year, there should be an examination in all the subjects studied in the first two years, and that it should be final in regard to all subjects not included in the group selected by the student for the A. B. examination." (pp. 19, 20). The object of the Royal Commissioners, therefore, even in a high and very severe course of Collegiate studies, was to prevent any optional studies during the first two of a three years' course of study—to allow optional studies but one year; whereas in the Toronto University system, optional studies are allowed three years out of four. During two-thirds of the course of studies in the Queen's Colleges in Ireland, there is no option or interruption whatever in the studies of Latin, Greek, and Mathematics; in Toronto University, options are allowed in either or all of those studies during three-fourths of the course.

Next Mr. Langton refers to the London University; but here though the degree of B. A. has been divided into two, namely, a First B. A. and a Second B. A., the latter being equal to the B. A. under the former system; there is no option whatever in the subjects of either of the two examinations; and the subjects of the two examinations include the Latin and Greek languages and literature, Mathematics, Logic and Moral Philosophy, besides other subjects, as may be here seen in the last Calendar of the London University.

Then Mr. Langton also appeals to and quotes largely from the Reports of the Cambridge University Commissioners; but his own quotations refute his conclusions; for the Royal Commissioners recommend (what was not allowed before), that some choice of studies be allowed to students during the last four terms out of the nine terms of actual residence and study; that is from the latter part of the second year (there being three terms in a year at Cambridge,) a choice of studies under certain guards and restrictions be allowed to students; but then only after passing the "previous examination," which Provost Whitaker states in his evidence to have been made equal to the former examination for B. A., at Cambridge. And yet Mr. Langton coolly adduces such recommendations to sanction optional studies in the Toronto University, at the end of the first year, and that without any such previous examination as the one required at Cambridge.

Mr. Langton also appeals to the recommendations of the Oxford University Commissioners; but they are more completely against him than those (as I have just shewn,) of the Cambridge University Commissioners. Mr. Langton quotes the Oxford Commissioners, as recommending a choice of studies to be allowed to students during the latter part of the course; but he adroitly avoids saying, or quoting any passage, by which the Committee might judge as to how long a time was meant by "the latter part of the course." Now the very heading of the recommendations from which Mr. Langton has quoted, is as follows:—"Liberty of choice in subjects of study during the last year." Had Mr. Langton quoted these words, it would have made the fallacy of his argument transparent in a moment. Out of a four years' course of study at Oxford, the Commissioners recommend that there may be liberty of choice in subjects of study during the last year of the four; while Mr. Langton's system establishes it three years out of the four!

Thus do the authorities, professedly quoted by Mr. Langton, condemn in every instance his wretched system of options, and sanction the views which we have maintained, that optional studies should only be permitted to a limited extent during the latter part of the Collegiate course—that allowing a choice of studies at the end of the first year of a Collegiate course, is as injurious to a thorough University education, as allowing a child at school, at the end of his first year, to choose his studies, would be fatal to a thorough elementary education.

The Committee adjourned.

Thursday, April 26, 1860.

COMMITTEE MET.

Present:

The Honorable MALCOLM CAMERON, Chairman,
 " Mr. CAYLEY,
 " " Attorney General MACDONALD,
 " " FOLEY,
 " " ROBLIN,
 " " SIMPSON,
 " " MCCANN,
 " " WILSON.

The Reverend Messrs. Ryerson, Stinson, Nelles and Poole were in attendance.

John Langton, Esquire, and Professor Wilson of University of Toronto, were in attendance.

The Reverend Mr. Ryerson continued his statement in reply to Messrs. Langton and Wilson, as follows:

In resuming the observations which I was making yesterday, I may remark that a large portion of my reply was not in answer to what is contained in Dr. Wilson's written statement, which may be read in a little more than half an hour; his speech occupied considerably more than two hours, and nearly all the points to which I referred were mentioned in his speech as delivered, but which he has not incorporated in his written statement. They were designed for the Committee, it appears; not for the country at large. How far such a course is fair or manly, I leave others to judge. On the other hand, there is much in the written statement of Mr. Langton which was not contained in his speech. To that I have no objection. In view of what may possibly occur hereafter, and to justify myself in the eyes of the Committee, my friends and the country, I make these explanatory remarks. I omitted one or two points connected with the topics to which I alluded yesterday; one was in regard to the standard of Matriculation. It is admitted on all hands that the standard of Matriculation at Toronto University has been much lowered, and, I think I have shewn, not for the reason assigned. It has been reduced considerably lower than that of other University Colleges, and one reason given (which I omitted to notice yesterday) was the incompetency of the Grammar Schools to give that preparatory education necessary for Matriculation at the University according to the former standard. This objection has been repeated by all who have spoken on the other side of the question, in various forms, and with various degrees of impressiveness. Now, Sir, perhaps no one knows better than I do the position of our Grammar Schools, how much they stand below the standard to which I would wish them elevated, or the inconvenient and undesirable circumstances in which the Masters of many of them are placed. But it is one thing for the Masters of Grammar Schools to be in poor circumstances, and quite another thing for these Masters to be incompetent. It is possible that there may be competency combined with poverty—competency on the part of the Master, combined with a deficiency of materials within the Schools, and a want of resources to place them in that position which the generosity and judgment of the Trustees would desire, had they the power to do so. When the statement is made to you, that the intention of the reduction of the Matriculation standard was to prevent a monopoly in behalf of Upper Canada College, I ask what is the plea for the existence of Upper Canada College, except that it was designed as an Institution for the Province? What is the reason for its existence at this day except that it was intended especially as a feeder to the Provincial University College; that it was designed to take up our youth at a stage when they had advanced beyond the competency of ordinary Grammar Schools, and gather them there for the special purpose of preparation for the Provincial University? Why else is it that £5000 or £6000 per annum has been given to Upper Canada College, and from £50 to £200 only to each of the Grammar Schools, except that the College had work to do superior to that of the Grammar Schools? That College was established for Upper Canada, not for Toronto, else its endowment should be abolished to-morrow, since Toronto is as well able to support its own Grammar School as any city or town in the Province. The policy of the Senate of the University should have been to send young men to Upper Canada College, to prepare them there for admission to the University. In the face of its endowment, in the presence of the past facts in the history of that institution, of the recommendations of past years as to its sufficiency, of its being placed—not under the direction of an ordinary local board of trustees, but of a Provincial Senate; in the face of all this it is strange these gentlemen should plead that they reduced the standard of Matriculation in the University, in order not to give Upper Canada College an advantage over other Grammar Schools. Can anything be more inconsistent or absurd, more contrary to facts, more opposed to the very nature of things? Sir, I repeat, if it is not the design of Upper Canada College, by its large endowment, to accomplish the purpose of which I speak, it ought not to exist for a day, and the other portions of Upper Canada ought to claim that the revenues now set apart for the support of that Institution be distributed among the various Grammar Schools of the Province. Sir, this very plea of Mr. Langton and Dr. Wilson, is the death knell of Upper Canada College. But what are the facts in regard to the Grammar Schools? Look over the masterships of the Grammar Schools of the county, and wonder how men can have the face to make assertions of this description. If you begin at Cornwall you will there find one of the most accomplished young men of the country, whose mind is as energetic as it is finely cultivated, the Rev. Mr. Davies, a Trinity College man. Is Mr. Barron, of Cobourg, unfit to train up young men to be teachers? Is the Master of Kingston Grammar School incompetent? Is the master of the Grammar School of Brockville incompetent? Is that most accomplished and most able master of Barrie Grammar School, incompetent, who has competed successfully with Upper Canada College itself in regard to both scholars and honors. I will ask whether the Master of Galt Grammar School, a graduate of Toronto University, who was distinguished as a teacher in Hamilton Grammar School before he went to the University, and has also I believe, distanced Upper Canada College in the number of his pupils who have taken honors in University competition, is incompetent. Is the accomplished Master connected with the school at Hamilton, which even though it is called a Union Grammar School, is one of the best in that part of the country, an incompetent man? Is the Master of the London Grammar School, Mr. Bayley, who has sent up scholars who have taken honors in old King's College, unfit to teach? Is the Rev. Mr. Mulholland, now Head Master of the Grammar School at Simcoe, incompetent to teach youth anything higher than a little Sallust and a little Xenophon? Is Dr. Howe, Master of the Toronto Grammar School, incompetent; or Mr. Marling, of New Market Grammar School; or Mr. Phillips, Master of the St. Catharines Grammar School, one of the first and most numerously attended Grammar Schools in Upper Canada. Sir, I might extend this enumeration a long while; for the masters of no less than 42 out of the 75 Grammar Schools, are graduates of British and Canadian Colleges; and several of those who teach under Provincial certificates, are competent and able teachers. Sir, the plea of Mr. Langton and Dr. Wilson, as to the incompetency of the Grammar Schools, is an unjust and groundless imputation upon the qualifications of a great majority of the masters of Grammar Schools in Upper Canada; for however poor may be the accommodation of Grammar Schools in some places, and however inadequate the salaries paid, it is clear that their masters generally are competent to train our boys up to any standard of Matriculation a Provincial University might require. The reason given for the reduction is a mere pretext, contradicted on the one hand by the consideration of the objects for which Upper Canada College was founded, and on the other by the competency of the masters of the Grammar Schools in various parts of the Province. It is for the want of those who wish to pursue a course of University study, that men have not come up to enrol themselves on the University books; and perhaps another reason is in the unwillingness of some to go up to Toronto. Every effort has been made by offering prizes and Scholarships, by abolishing fees, by the reduction of standards, to increase the number of students, and as if that were not enough, these gentlemen have attached to the University a Tutor, whose special work it is to assist the maimed, the halt, and I had almost said the blind. Is it, I ask, for the interest of the several localities of the country, for the interest of Grammar Schools themselves, or for that of University Education, to take off what Mr. Langton admits to be a year's work from the Grammar Schools, and tack it on to University College by the assistance of a Tutor, with the duty assigned to him of coaching those who come up from the country to enter the University, even according to its present reduced standard.

Another subject to which I alluded yesterday, but in connection with which I overlooked one or two topics, is that of Scholarships. But before adverting to this topic, allow me to notice Mr. Langton's statement that I had myself gone home to England and selected persons as teachers who proved not to be qualified. He speaks of "two men, graduates of British Universities, selected by me for the Normal and Model Schools, who, upon trial, proved inefficient." Now, Sir, had I made a mistake of the kind here made by Mr. Langton, you would have seen again enacted in regard to myself, the same spectacle that took place once at Toronto in the case of a gentleman now present (Mr. Cayley.) I should have been cross-examined, shown to have been in error, and then held up as stating what was contrary to fact. Now, one of these persons was a graduate of the University of Queen's College in Ireland—and I may here remark parenthetically, there were candidates from Belfast College also, and as proofs of their standing, they forwarded me the Calendar of Belfast College. This is how I came to have that Calendar, and not those of the other Queen's Colleges at Cork and Galway;

why I spoke of the standard of admission there as being higher than at Toronto, which Mr. Langton has admitted, but on which he accused me of having unfairly selected one from among three—because it suited my argument best,—the other was not a graduate of any University, but a student in the School of Arts and Science in London, and I wished to get a master to teach drawing according to the system pursued there. Mr. Langton says these gentlemen were dismissed—but what had been the condition of their appointment? The system adopted in appointing all Masters and Teachers of the Normal and Model Schools, even Mr. Ormiston, Mr. Ambery, and others, has, in every case, been a six months' probation, after which, if they did not succeed in performing their duties efficiently, their services were dispensed with, and if they came from England, the expenses of their passage home were paid. If the same prudent course had been pursued in regard to certain other Professors, it would, perhaps, have been better for the country. Now, the first of these young men (an excellent person) possessed great clearness of perception, and power of language to express his views, but he failed for two reasons—he could not command the interest of, nor efficiently govern large classes. Therefore, after trial, it was found he could not succeed in this particular work. The other person was in every way competent to teach, but attended no public worship, and became known as a sceptic, and exhibited lightness of character and indifference to the progress of his classes, and therefore, we thought it best to dispense with his services; and we have now selected a gentleman (Mr. Coulton) to fill the situation, who was educated in the School of Arts and Manufacturing Industry in Paris, and afterwards obtained the rank of Civil Engineer, and who manages his department most efficiently. These are the only two mistakes which have been made in the difficult task of selecting Masters and Teachers for the Provincial Normal and three Model Schools, and such has been the provision made for remedying them. I may add, that had not such precautions been taken, the Normal School would have been permanently maimed in two of its essential departments.

Reverting now to the question of Scholarships, I beg to notice for a moment, what has been stated by Mr. Langton and Dr. Wilson, that students from all Colleges can compete for them. Apart from the answers given by Dr. Cook and Provost Whitaker, to this show of liberality, I may remark, that these Scholarships are for what are called honor subjects—subjects not included in the ordinary collegiate curriculum, but additional subjects, and for the study of which, students are allowed, in the exercise of options, to omit other studies which the other Colleges consider essential to the completeness of an University education. To allow students to neglect several ordinary subjects, and devote themselves chiefly to one subject, in order to obtain a Scholarship of £30, is like pugilists neglecting ordinary and lawful avocations to train themselves for a contest, involving a larger or smaller sum of money. Thus, the Toronto system of Scholarships, is not only unjust to ordinary Students, by having half the time of the Professors, which should be devoted to them, employed in training the candidate for the contest, but also mars the harmony and efficiency of the system of mental study and discipline, necessary to intellectual development, and a complete liberal education, while it is an ingenious scheme for building up University College alone.

I here take occasion to remark upon a term which appears to have given Dr. Wilson great offence, and the use of which, I regret, since so much ado has been made about it, and as I intended no offence. It is the term "family compact." It is very well known that the term was used in a conventional sense, and which may apply to a College family, as well as a political family, and that conventional sense, I may define, for insertion in the first dictionary of Canadianisms, as "a small party of gentlemen in Toronto, having, among others, two special objects in view; the one being their own convenience and interests, and the other, those of their locality, regarding the interests of others, and of other localities, as matters of very secondary consideration." How far the interests of the College family have been consulted, I need not further remark; and I have shown, in a statement to which neither Mr. Langton nor Dr. Wilson has ventured to refer, that the Professors of the College family at Toronto, have consulted their convenience, by giving themselves two months less work each year, and twelve hours less work each week of that short year, than have the Professors of Harvard College.

Now, Sir, as to the next topic, on which I made some observations yesterday, that of Options. I will not now, as I did not previously, enter into the general question; but I beg to repeat, that all the authorities quoted on that subject, fail to prove, as it was endeavored to prove, that the Options in other countries, are equal to those allowed in the University of Toronto. I shewed before, that no Options were admitted at Cambridge, until after the 5th term. At Cambridge, there are now nine terms to be kept out of the twelve, instead of ten as formerly. Her Majesty's Commissioners recommend raising the standard of the examination at the end of the 5th term, called the "Previous Examination," as Professor Whitaker testified, and admitting Students from that time, to choose Options. That recommendation has induced Mr. Langton to justify options being introduced here the end of the first year, while there, it will be seen, they only commence in the latter part of the second, after the standard to which students must have attained at that period has been advanced, to what Provost Whitaker regards as equal to the former standard for B. A. at Cambridge in Mr. Langton's time. There, in four out of the nine terms options are permitted, while in Toronto they are allowed six terms out of eight! Then, sir, in regard to London University, I have shewn that in every single degree, except that of M. A., no options at all are permitted. As to Oxford, I have shown that the "Liberty of choice in subjects of study during the last year" of four was what the Royal Commissioners recommended, and not the last three years of four, as has been established in Toronto. Mr. Langton incorrectly represents the "Intermediate Examination" at Oxford as the first examination. The Commissioners in their Report, from which Mr. Langton quotes, set it down as "The Second or Intermediate Examination;" and Professor Ambery considers this examination at Oxford as not only above the ordinary degree examination, but nearly equal to the honor degree examination at Toronto; and it is only after that Second or Intermediate Examination, that the Royal Commissioners permit the options mentioned by Mr. Langton. The recommendations of the Oxford Commissioners would not permit any Options in Toronto, until after the Students had passed their ordinary fourth year's examination for the degree of B. A.; yet Mr. Langton adduces such recommendations to justify the adoption of a system of Options at the end of the first year.

Having thus referred to the British Institutions, I may remark that on this side of the Atlantic, in places where there are practical men, not "old Oxford relics," I allude to Yale and Harvard, the system of options is permitted to a very limited extent indeed. Yale only permits options in classics in two out of the whole twelve terms of its course, and that only when the student wishes to take the higher Mathematics, but does not permit any options in Mathematics. At Harvard options in Mathematics do not commence until the third year, and in classics not until the fourth year.

Having now discussed these topics in reply to Mr. Langton and Dr. Wilson, I may remark that if we have a College education at all in Upper Canada it should be a good one. It is not worth while putting the country to the expense of a Collegiate education that only advances a couple of steps beyond the Grammar School course. It is not just to the country or its future that we should have such a system, unless it is characterized by a thoroughness, a comprehensiveness, a practical character, that can stand some comparison with that of other countries. I submit that the youth of Upper Canada are not deficient in intellect—though Dr. Wilson seemed to think it absurd that we should look as highly as Oxford, where education costs at least $750 a year, and where the English nobility are educated. Just as if money or title conferred intellect, as if a poor untitled Canadian may not, with the aid of competent and diligent Professors, equal in scholarship and science the wealthy titled Englishman! Sir, the University education for which all Upper Canada has been taxed ought to be a real University education, not a mock imitation of it. We want our sons better educated than their fathers—educated so that they can stand on an equality with the educated men of any country. Our aim should be to elevate the standard of education in all the Colleges, as well as schools; but how can that be accomplished when the only endowed University of the country sets the example of the downward instead of the upward course?

Mr. Langton and Dr. Wilson have both attempted to show that Victoria College has had three representatives in the Senate of the Toronto University, while University College has only four—that Dr. Barrett, of the Medical Faculty of Victoria College, Mr. Nelles and myself are members of the Senate. None can be more sensible than themselves of the fallacy of their statement and argument. Dr. Workman, President of the Toronto School of Medicine, (which was affiliated to the Toronto University early in 1854.) entered the Senate as such. To him Dr. Barrett succeeded. In 1856, the Toronto School of Medicine became the Medical Faculty of Victoria College, but retained its affiliated relation to Toronto University, and as the President of that affiliated Institution, and not as Head of the Medical Faculty of Victoria College, Dr. Barrett held his place as member of the Senate. Soon after, Dr. Barrett and a majority of the Corporation of the Toronto School of Medicine withdrew from all connexion with Victoria College, became very hostile to it; but retaining their School as an affiliated Institution of the Toronto University, and as the Head of such affiliated Institution, Dr. Barrett holds his seat and has acted for years as member of the Senate. Yet in the presence of these facts, Dr. Wilson and Mr. Langton represent him as holding his seat in the Senate as a representative of Victoria College! Then as to myself, I am a member of the Senate simply as Chief Superintendent of Education of Upper Canada, though I happen to be a Trustee of, and a subscriber to Victoria College. But the fallacy of their statement becomes still more palpable from the fact, that the four Professors of University College are salaried officers on the funds of the University, while no member of any other College receives a farthing from them—not even his expenses if he should go to Toronto to attend meetings of the Senate.

I will now advert briefly to another subject on which Dr. Wilson dwelt at great length—that of Denominational Colleges. I may ask what Denominational Colleges have to do with the defence of University College—the professed object of Dr. Wilson's mission to Quebec? Was he deputed to attack Denominational Colleges, or to appear in behalf of University College? Mr. Langton admits, indeed, that Denominational Colleges may do some good; but the whole scope of Dr. Wilson's remarks is to the effect that Denominational Colleges are a sort of social evil, and that it would be better for the country if they did not exist. He declares it “totally at variance with facts to say,” as the Wesleyan Memorial stated, that “the experience of all Protestant countries shows that it is, and has been, as much the province of a religious persuasion to establish a College, as it is for a School Municipality to establish a School." I showed in my remarks yesterday how contrary to facts was Dr. Wilson's statement that the Collegiate Education in England in connexion with the London University was non-denominational. In refutation of his present statement, I may appeal to the Protestant country of Scotland, in which, according to his own admission and statement, the system of Collegiate education was under both denominational tests and control until since 1854. He refers to four Colleges in England, at Hull, Cheltenham, Wakefield and Manchester, which he says have been established by voluntary effort, and are non-denominational; but why did he omit the upwards of thirty Denominational Colleges established and endowed by voluntary effort in England, and which are affiliated to the London University? Every schoolboy knows that the history of each Protestant denomination in England, has been marked by the establishment of one or more Collegiate Institutions, and within the last few years to a greater extent than at any former period. And Dr. Wilson himself being witness, the forty-two Colleges at Oxford and Cambridge are under denominational control, although tests for students have been abolished. Then to turn to Protestant America, is there a single denomination in the United States, which has not put forth its most vigorous efforts to establish denominational institutions? In the Almanacs of that country you may see lists, almost without number, of their denominational Colleges. Yet Dr. Wilson, in the face of these facts, denies that the history of Protestant countries shows, that it is the province of denominations to establish Colleges at all!

It is also objected by both Mr. Langton and Dr. Wilson, that denominational Colleges are opposed to the system of Common and Grammar Schools. Perhaps I understand that system as well as these gentlemen; and I may observe, that in forming the system of Common and Grammar Schools, I regarded denominational Colleges, as a necessary supplement to them, and as essential to the completeness and efficiency of the system of public instruction in Upper Canada, and as much an essential part of it, as the Common and Grammar Schools themselves. I will not detain you by arguing this point; but I will append extracts of a letter which I addressed to the Hon. F. Hincks, on the subject, in July, 1852, and in which I discussed, at length, the connexion between the system of Common and Grammar Schools and denominational Colleges. In refutation of the assertion that the advocacy of denominational Colleges involves the advocacy of denominational Common Schools, I remark that the most earnest supporters of the non-denominational Schools, are the warmest advocates of denominational Colleges. I would ask whether I have ever been in favor of establishing denominational Schools in the country? I ask whether the Wesleyan Conference, which now stands prominently before you, as having originated the investigation, ever demanded them, or whether it has not expressed its views on the subject in past years, or if its practice, in permitting one of its members to construct a non-denominational system, and carry it on from that day to the present, is not an indication of its views? Do not the Presbyterians of the Church of Scotland hold similar ground? Has not the feeling of the great body of the Church of England too—for only a small portion of it has advocated separate schools—been in favor of supporting liberally our present system of Common and Grammar Schools?

I now come to another point. It has been stated as an objection, that under the system we advocate there would be a contemptibly small number of Students attending the different Colleges, and that that would be a great disadvantage. It has been pressed on the Committee, that, to get a large number of Students, we must have but one Collegiate institution. Now here again, what are the facts? In this very Report of the English University Commissioners by Heywood, you find a list of the Students who entered both at Cambridge and Oxford, from '45 to '49: no returns having appeared since then. I will take the list of Students who entered these old Colleges in the latter year, as mentioned in Heywood, p. 517. At Cambridge there were,

At St. Peter's	21
At Clare Hall	19
At Pembroke	10
At Caius	26
At Trinity Hall	10
At Corpus Christi	24
At King's	4
At Queen's	36
At Jesus	28
At Christ's	20
At St. John's	97
At Magdalen	21
At Trinity	151
At Emmanuel	25
At Sidney	8
At Downing	4

499.

The average number entering at the Colleges at Cambridge is, then, 31 students to each. And have not some of the infant denominational Colleges in this new country already more students entered than several of the old Colleges at Cambridge? Then let us look at Oxford. There the number entered in the last year of which we have the return was:—

At University College	21
At Balliol College	26
At Merton College	12
At Exeter College	48
At Oriol College	18
At Queen's College	28
At New College	58
At Lincoln College	16
At All Souls' College	1
At Magdalene College	2
At Brasenose College	26
At Corpus Christi College	6
At Christ Church	46
At Trinity College	27
At St. John's College	15
At Jesus College	17
At Wadham	26
At Pembroke	26
At Worcester	38
At St. Alban Hall	"
At St. Edmund Hall	7
At St. Mary's Hall	11
At New Inn Hall	1
At Magdalene Hall	27
Total	440

The average number entered at each College there is 182. It is known that many more students enter a College than graduate. Victoria College this very year has a graduating class of fourteen young men, who have gone through their four years' course of study, besides nearly fifty undergraduates of one, two, or three years standing, and some 200 pupils in the Preparatory School. Yet we are told that by multiplying our Colleges we shall reduce the number of our students to an extent altogether without precedent in any country! If twenty students are in a class—we know that the students in a College are divided into four classes—are they not as many as one Tutor can well do justice to? Can one Tutor do more than properly attend to them? In his "ephemeral" article, Dr. Wilson said Professors should be as nearly as possible like the Tutors at Oxford and Cambridge. I think, then, the objections as to the smaller numbers that would be brought together in Denominational Colleges are entirely answered.

Sir, there are two or three qualities which Denominational Colleges possess to which I call attention. I speak from personal knowledge of one of them. They have a heart—a heart that feels as well as a head that thinks—they have a Christian heart, actuated by Christian feelings, motives, principles. They have a Canadian heart, all their sympathies, throughout the whole course of their training, being with the country. In the conversations and discussions of students and teachers, their illustrations are drawn as far as possible from "this Canada of ours," and when the students emerge into active life they feel that the land is theirs, they respect and love it as their home, and regard their fellow-countrymen as their brethren and equals. This is a very important consideration in forming the elements of character in this country.

On the score of their economy, too, the denominational colleges should attract attention; for they educate as many students for £2,000 as University College does for three times that sum.

Again, is it not all important for every statesman, christian and patriot to do all in his power to develop voluntary effort in the country, since voluntary effort in regard to everything that trains the heart of man, is the mainspring of our social progress. When the system of higher education is so framed as to require the exercise of this feeling—when no denomination can receive anything until its thoughts, feelings, sympathies are drawn forth and evinced by large contributions for the erection of buildings and the payment of Professors—then, I say, we have an important element to draw out what is good among us. But when there is no such feeling, when our Collegiate Institution lives wholly upon the public, and no man connected with it has any higher interest than to get what he can, then I say, you have an element of decay. We are, for the most part, a voluntary people. We should encourage voluntary effort by the supplementary aid of the State, but it should be given on the principle of equal justice to all; and it is curious to see the leaders of the voluntaries on other subjects become in this case the leaders of those who would depend upon the State for everything.

Dr. Wilson the other day referred to the Common and Grammar Schools of the country as being non-denominational, and said, non-denominational Colleges were essential to the harmony of the system. Sir, under our common school system, children are under the care or the orders of their parents for sixteen hours every day, besides the whole of each Sunday, and thus every possible facility is afforded for religious instruction. In the Grammar Schools there is, to a certain extent, as I have admitted, a defect in this particular, but they are only week-day boarding schools, at most, and parents can generally find some acquaintance in the neighborhood to pay attention to their children. In the Normal School, Toronto, which is for the purpose of training teachers, seldom extending over a period of ten months, the students are required to attend religious instruction one hour a week under their own ministers, and are as imperatively required to attend that class as any other. And, granting that a defect exists in the Grammar Schools, that the primary education does not afford sufficient opportunities for religious instruction, is it not all the more important, as every good parent must feel, that religious instruction should be afterwards given to that part of our youth who are to give character and heart to, and to be the leaders of our country? When our sons go away from immediate parental and pastoral authority to train their minds for becoming the instructors and guides, if not the rulers of the Province in future years, is it not most important that every possible care should be taken to give them every facility for obtaining religious instruction to form their character? If there is a defect in our Grammar Schools, it is a reason for remedying it at our Colleges.

Having made these remarks, I will now revert to my own system, my own plan, which I respectfully submit to the serious attention of the Committee. Sir, Dr. Wilson made himself merry, and thought to amuse the Committee, by a reference to an expression of mine, used in a letter written by me several years since, that I had meditated my system of Public Instruction for this country—for I contemplated the whole system from the primary school to the University—on some of the highest mountains in Europe, and said, using a very elegant expression, it must therefore be rather “windy.” I leave it to the country to judge of the windiness of the gentleman who has assailed me; but a person of his pretensions to literature and philosophy might have known, that there have been those who have risen high in their intellectual attainments, and left monuments rather more enduring than essays on Indian pipes and tobacco, profusely illustrated in the Canadian Journal, who have sought their inspirations in the higher elevations of their country. No one can have read the history of Greece or Scotland, or the Northern and Western parts of England, without knowing that, from elevated and secluded places, some of the finest inspirations of genius have emanated which have ever been conceived by the mind of man. There are mountains in Europe where the recluse may stand and see beneath him curling clouds, and roaring tempests spending their strength, while he is in a calm untroubled atmosphere, on the summit of a mountain of which it may be said,

“ Though round his breast the rolling clouds are spread,
“ Eternal sunshine settles on his head,”

And I ask whether it was unphilosophical for an individual who had examined the educational systems of various countries, and who was crossing the Alps, to retire to a mountain solitude, and there, in the abode of that “eternal sunshine,” and in the presence of Him who is the fountain of light, to contemplate a system which was to diffuse intellectual and moral light throughout his native country, to survey the condition of that country as a whole, apart from its political and religious dissensions, and ask what system could be devised to enable it to take its position among the civilized nations of the world? How much better to be in such a position than to be enveloped in a Scotch fog, like that with which we were visited for two or three hours the other day!

In regard to the university and collegiate system which I would suggest, I have nothing (after eight years' further deliberation and experience) to add to or modify (unless in regard to Provincial Schools of Law and Medicine) what I meditated in Europe in 1845, and submitted to the Hon. Mr. Hincks in July, 1852. In that plan, I proposed to provide professorships in the various branches of science and literature after the examples of the French and English Universities, and to transfer the present professorships of English Literature and Natural History to the University proper, instead of their being attached to a College. I proposed the constitution of the University, the erection of the building, the endowment of professorships and colleges, including the denominational colleges, in connection with our Common School system, at an expense within the Income of the University Endowment without infringing upon the principle. I will append to my present observations extracts from the Letter referred to, containing an outline of the whole system, together with reasons for, and expected advantages of it, and leave the Committee to judge whether the plan suggested by me in 1852, and which I beg to suggest again, would not have effected an immense saving in the expenditure of the University Funds, greatly improved and extended collegiate education in the country, and consolidated in one harmonious whole our entire system of public instruction, from the primary school up to the University?

Thus submitting my plan to the consideration of the Committee, I beg to remark for a moment on two points incidentally connected with the subject. Dr. Wilson seemed displeased that I should compare his lectures on the English Language and Literature with the teachings of the Grammar School, and consoled himself, and sought to amuse the Committee with the idea, that I did not know the difference between the lectures of a College Professor and the teachings of a Grammar School master. I only judged of the character of Dr. Wilson's lectures on English Literature by his text-book, which is the same as that used in the Grammar Schools; and I presume there are not a few masters of Grammar Schools who are quite as competent to teach the English language and literature as Dr. Wilson himself. At the same time I am not insensible that the English language should be differently taught in the Grammar School and the College. In the former it should be taught, if I may use the expression, synthetically—beginning with the elements of words, putting them together, tracing them up to their Latin and Greek origin, or other foreign origin, as streams to their fountains, and then combining, arranging and applying them to practical purposes according to the philosophy of language. In the professorial chair, the analytic method should be adopted, and the process should commence with the languages of Greece and Rome, the words and literature of which should be traced downward and pursued in all their intricate and various interminglings with our own language and literature, forming its very warp and woof. This, I submit, is the true method of studying the English language and literature in connection with collegiate education; and this is doubtless the philosophy of Dr. Cook's view, when he said the other day that he would like to have both a Greek and Latin Professor, who would teach Greek and Latin, not in the style of the Grammar School, but in the spirit of a sound philology, exhibiting the words, the imagery, the philosophy, the literature, the very spirit of Greece and Rome in most that is refined, noble, elegant and beautiful in our own language and literature. It was in this way that the Burkes and Peels, and Macaulays and Gladstones, studied the English language and literature at college, and not by attending such lectures as Dr. Wilson's, or studying his chosen text-book, Spaulding's English Literature—the standard text-book of seminaries for young ladies as well as of Grammar Schools. Dr. Wilson will now understand why I attach little value to his professorship in University College, and whether I can distinguish between the appropriate teachings of the Grammar School and the College. The professor who serves as the electric telegraph to communicate to his students the very mind of the ancient world in the developements of their own language and literature, is a better teacher of the English language and literature than another professor who teaches English Literature from Spaulding's Compend and the English Language from Craik's Outlines.

Another remark I beg to make, relates to the expense of University buildings. It has been said that I was present at the Senate in March 1854, when Chief Justice Draper prepared an address to the Governor General for a grant to erect the buildings of the University. I may have been present, though I have no recollection of it, nor of the contents of the address referred to; but if I were present, it must have been then that I made the suggestion, as the only suitable occasion for such a suggestion, which the Hon. Mr. Morrison, who only attended the Senate two or three times, recollects having been made—namely, that Upper Canada College buildings be applied to the use of University College, and the Masters be appointed to Master-ships of Grammar Schools, with such allowance from the Upper Canada College endowments as would secure them against personal loss from the discontinuance of that institution, and the application of its revenues to augment the Grammar School Fund. At all events, my letter to Mr. Hincks, July, 1852, when I proposed the sum of £6,000 for the erection of a University building, shows that my views were more economical at that time than even now. It may at first thought appear strange in these days of large expenditures, how so small a sum should be sufficient for such a purpose; but it will not appear so strange if we consider the true objects of the University, and that the Queen's University in Ireland has no separate building, has only a Secretary with a salary of £350, with "Incidentals, Office Expenses, Postage, Messengers, Advertisements, &c.," amounting to £180," and "Exhibitions, Prizes and Medals," amounting to £475: in all for Office Charges, £1,005; nor will the sum I proposed appear small even for a building accommodating the several Professorships and Lectureships I suggested, when you consider how plain and inexpensive and variously used are the lecture-rooms of Professors in the Universities at Leipsic, Halle, Bonn, (where Prince Albert was educated), and in Paris, at the Sorbonne, and the College de France, where I have attended lectures, by Dupret's, Michelet, Girardin, Michel Chevalier and others, including Arago at the Observatoire, with Humboldt for a regular auditor. The lecture-room or theatre for lectures in Chemistry and Natural Philosophy was large, as were those for the popular lectures in History and French Literature and Eloquence, but with no other furniture than forms or straw-bottom chairs. I have heard Leverrier, the famous mathematician and astronomer, lectured in a room not more than twice as large as this Committee room, and with furniture not costing half as much; and in the same room I have heard lectures in Mineralogy and Geology. I have heard no less than six different Professors in as many different courses in the same lecture-room, lecturing different hours of the day and on different days in the week. The great men of Europe give greatness to the plain and unpretending places whence they pour forth the treasures of profound learning and mighty intellect; but Dr. Wilson, as the representative of Toronto University College, insists upon "stone and marble" magnificence as essential to a great people, and, of course, to great Professors and great lectures in "this Canada of ours;" and thus are our University Funds frittered away by hundreds of thousands of dollars upon the "material and the inanimate at the expense of the intellectual and the moral." Mr. Langton thought that some $1,800 was not too large a sum for the ceremonial of laying the top stone of the University buildings. The Governor General, Lord Elgin, laid the corner-stone of the Normal School buildings in the presence of the Members of both Houses of the Legislature, and the ceremony cost just £20, and that for scaffolding; and Sir John B. Robinson opened the building when finished, with a noble address, in the presence of a large assembly, and the ceremony cost the expense of gas to illuminate the edifice.

In concluding my remarks, I submit that the question for the decision of the Committee is not my merits or demerits, although the latter have been brought before you day after day at great length, in various forms, and with various ability

Nor do I think the merits or details of the proceedings of the petitioners, who have been so severely reflected upon, are the grave subjects of your deliberation and decision. The great question, I submit, which demands your attention, is, What should be done to correct the acknowledged evils of the past, and make legal and effectual provision for a system of liberal education in Upper Canada? Sir, the very advocates of the present system have conceded nearly all that has been urged, nearly all that has been complained of or demanded, except they still insist upon the monopoly of the money. They have conceded that the Senate is not properly constituted. They have conceded that they have reduced the curriculum. They admit that the Professors ought not to be the examiners of their own students, but justify the practice in their case on the ground of circumstances of necessity. They have admitted that there are needless Professorships in University College. They admit that expenses may be reduced; and Mr. Langton says that some of them have already been cut down.

Then, Sir, I would ask whether respect is not due to the sentiments of large religious bodies in this country, and whether the statesman and patriot should not take into consideration the feelings of people who constitute a large portion of the christianity of the Province? No one can conceive the progress which the agitation of this question has already made in Upper Canada, its influence on the people, the strength of public sentiment it evokes. When the agitation commenced, a few months ago, it was said "Oh, it is only the doings of a few Methodist Preachers, and will soon die a natural death." But what are the facts? Why, that 16 district conventions and 250 quarter meetings, of the official laity of the Wesleyan Church, with but one exception, in the County of Prince Edward, and then, by a mere accident, have all supported the views which have been submitted for your consideration this day. There always have been and always will be exceptions in such cases; but such unity never existed in the religious body on any public question at any former time, although it was said the agitators were only a small portion of the preachers, with whom the Wesleyan body at large did not sympathize. That statement you see was a great mistake; while you find that the Presbyterians of the Church of Scotland, and a large portion of the Church of England, concur in the views of the Wesleyan body. And, Sir, this is only the commencement. If the discussions of the past year should continue for another, there will be a body of feeling in Upper Canada such as there has not been on any subject since the agitation of the Clergy Reserve question—merely from the fact that this subject goes home to the consciences and the religious feelings of the people of the country, the best and holiest feelings of fathers and mothers throughout the land. I ask whether the decision of this Committee should not give equal justice to all parties and classes in the community, according to their works? The sentiment of our country has ever been against monopolies. Even the gentlemen of the Toronto University say they wished to prevent Upper Canada College from becoming a monopoly. Sir, there may be a non-denominational as well as a denominational monopoly, and equally hateful to the country, destitute, as it must be, of all the ties and aspirations which religious feelings create.

Among the several denominations in the land, some have expressed their views in favor of a non-denominational College. I do not go so far as Dr. Cook, regarding a non-denominational College only as "objectionable." I admit that there ought to be a non-denominational College. Sir, let those people have one, and if they do not want to pay for it themselves, let the institution now established be perpetuated and supported for them; but at the same time, let the views and feelings of other classes of our fellow-citizens be consulted, who do not rely upon the State for everything, but who erect their own buildings, defray a large portion of their expenses, and prove by liberal subscriptions the sincerity of their professions, while the non-denominational people contribute not one cent towards the erection or support of their College. I ask if the State is to ignore the former and exclusively patronize the latter? Are the Wesleyan people especially to stand impugned and impeached in the presence of the representatives of the country as the friends of ignorance, or the prompters of social evil, when, prior to all other efforts of the kind, they commenced, in 1832, to erect a College building which is respectable at the present day? Sir, no one can conceive the labors and efforts requisite to establish such an institution, and so much needed at that day; no one can conceive the difficulties encountered in obtaining a Royal Charter for it in 1836; and the mortifications and hardships in soliciting donations and subscriptions in England to the amount of $25,000; and few can estimate the blessings the College has conferred upon the country in educating and largely forming the character of some thousands of Canadian youths; nearly all of whom have illustrated the benefits of a religious and liberal institution of learning, and a considerable number of them have risen to distinction in different professions and employments. In the presence of such facts, and of the past of this country, I ask if the Wesleyan body are to be impugned as they have been by Dr. Wilson, and are they to be repelled rather than respected by their country's representatives? Are they to be treated thus, not by those who have borne the burden and heat of the day during the infancy and growth of our Canadian life and civilization, but by those who only come here for the sake of the salaries they enjoy?

In the last place, I submit that the Committee should look to the establishment of a system possessing the elements of unity, comprehensiveness, solidity, economy, and permanence. It is only in the union and comprehension of all classes of the community, you have a guarantee for the solidity and the permanence of your institutions.

One thing more. It is perfectly well known to the Committee, that its time for the last four or five days has been occupied, not in the investigation of these principles, but by attempts to destroy what is dearer to me than life, in order to crush the cause with which I am identified; and a scene has been enacted here, somewhat resembling that which took place in a certain Committee room, at Toronto, in regard to a certain Inspector General. Every single forgetfulness or omission of mine, has been magnified and tortured in every possible way, to destroy my reputation for integrity and my standing in the Country. A newspaper in Toronto, whose editor-in-chief is a man of very great notoriety, has said since the commencement of this inquiry that, in my early days, I made mercenary approaches to another church, but was indignantly repelled, and hence my present position. I showed the other day, that I might have occupied the place of Vice Chancellor of the University which Mr. Langton now holds, had I desired (and the proposal was made to me after my return from Europe, in 1856,) and I have similar records to prove that in 1825, after the commencement of my Wesleyan Ministry, I had the authoritative offer of admission to the Ministry of the Church of England. My objection, and my sole objection was, that my early religious principles and feelings were wholly owing to the instrumentality of the Methodist people, and I had been Provisionally called to labor among them; not that I did not love the Church of England. Those were "saddlebag days," and I used to carry in my saddlebags two books, to which I am more indebted than to any other two books in the English language, except the Holy Scriptures, namely, the Prayer Book and the Homilies of the Church of England. At this very day, Sir, though I have often opposed the exclusive assumptions of some members of the Church of England, I only love it less than the Church with which I am immediately associated.

I have been charged with being the leader of the present movement. I am entitled to no such honor. If I have written a line, it has been as the amanuensis of my ecclesiastical superiors; if I have done anything, it has been in compliance with the wishes of those whom I love and honor; and my attachment to the Wesleyan body, and the associations and doings of my early years, have been appealed to, as a ground of claim for my humble aid in connection with this movement. Sir, the Wesleyan people, plain and humble as they were, did me good in my youth, and I will not abandon them in my old age.

I have only further to add, that whatever may be my shortcomings, and even sins, I can say with truth that I love my country; that by habit of thought, by association, by every possible sympathy I could awaken in my breast, I have sought to increase my affection for my native land. I have endeavoured to invest it with a sort of personality, to place it before me as an individual, beautiful in its proportions, as well as vigorous in all the elements of its constitution, and losing sight of all distinctions of classes, sects and parties, to ask myself, in the presence of that Being before whom I shall shortly stand, what I could do most for my country's welfare, how I could contribute most to found a system of education that would give to Canada, when I should be no more, a career of splendour which will make its people proud of it. I may adopt the words of a poet—though they be not very poetical:—

“Sweet place of my kindred, blest land of my birth,

“The fairest, the purest, the dearest on earth;

“Where'er I may roam, where'er I may be,

“My spirit instinctively turns unto thee.”

Whatever may have been the course of proceeding adopted towards me in this inquiry, I bear enmity to no man; and whatever may be the result of this investigation, and the decision of the Committee, I hope that during the few years I have to live, I shall act consistently with the past, and still endeavour to build up a country that will be distinguished in its religious, social, moral, educational, and even political institutions and character; to assist in erecting a structure of intellectual progress and power, on which future ages may look back with respect and gratitude, and thus to help, in some humble degree, to place our beloved Canada among the foremost nations of the earth.

Document accompanying Dr. Ryerson's Reply to Mr. Langton and Dr. Wilson, being extracts of a letter addressed by him to the Hon. F. Hincks, containing a plan of a Provincial University, including denominational Colleges, in connexion with our present Common School System.

TORONTO, 22nd July, 1852.

DEAR SIR,—According to promise I now proceed to state in writing the result of my observations and reflections on that part of the system of public instruction in Upper Canada, which relates to a Provincial University, and to University Colleges.

In order to prevent any misapprehension of the views and suggestions I venture to submit, I beg to make a few preliminary remarks.

Light in which the question should be viewed.

I have always been accustomed to contemplate and discuss public questions on a provincial, rather than a denominational point of view, in reference to their bearing upon the condition and interests of the country at large, and not upon those of particular religious persuasions, as distinct from public interests, or upon the interests of any one religious persuasion more than those of another. And this I think is the true difference between a mere sectarian and patriot ; between considering the institutions and legislation and government of a country in a sectarian or patriotic spirit. The one places his sect above his country, and supports or opposes every public law or measure of government just as it may or may not promote the interests of his own sect, irrespective of public interests, and in rivalry with those of other sects ; the other views the well-being of the country as the great end to be proposed and pursued, and the sects as among the instrumentalities tributary to that end. Some, indeed, have gone to the extreme of viewing all the religious persuasions as evils to be dreaded and as far as possible proscribed, rather than as distinct agencies more or less promotive of morality and virtue, and their rivalships tending to stimulate to greater activity, and, therefore, as a whole, more beneficial than injurious.

Regard to the state and religious character of the country.

My second preliminary remark is, that as the educational as well as other institutions of a country, must have reference to, and be greatly modified by its social state and character ; so in the collegiate, as well as elementary department of Public Instruction, the religious persuasions of the country cannot be disregarded, as they form some of the most powerful and important of the social elements which enter into the constitution of the moral and intellectual character of the people of the country. In Upper Canada, the number of persons who would theoretically or practically exclude christianity in all its forms as an assential element in the education of the country, is exceedingly small ; and to base any of our educational institutions upon the sentiment of such persons, will inevitably ensure their abandonment and rejection by the people at large. A system of education, whether collegiate or elementary, which ignores the religious sentiments of a people, cannot prosper or long exist among them except by coercion. * * * *

Defect, as to religious instruction and oversight.

Then there is the fact—and a painful fact it is—that whether a student keeps or violates the Sabbath—attends worship or frequents taverns—is virtuous or vicious—is no matter of concern in the University ; in respect to the oversight of which each student may say, as if he were in the land of pagan darkness and death, “no man careth for my soul.” I do not think this need be so, constituted as the University now is ; it is not so in the administration of the Provincial Normal School. But it is certain, that few parents in Upper Canada, would entrust their sons from home, and during the most eventful years of their educational training, under the care of any institution whose authority and oversight never extended to those principles, habits and dispositions, without which the best educated man is but an accomplished knave, and a curse rather than a blessing to a community.

Experiments of the present system.

If an examination was instituted, it would also be found that comparing the annual expenditure of University funds, with the annual number of University graduates, more than twice as large a sum has been expended, as would have been required to send each of the graduates to the best University in America or Europe, and pay all the expenses of his journeys, residence, books, lectures, clothing, &c., &c.

No reason for continuing such a system.

Under these circumstances, I see no economical or public grounds on which the present system of University expenditure and instruction can be justified ; nor do I think the public feeling, when the subject comes to be discussed, will suffer such an application, or rather waste of the most splendid University endowment in America, to be perpetuated. As now expended, this endowment is injurious rather than advantageous to all the leading religious persuasions of the Province; and self-defence, as well as other considerations, will prompt them to unite with that portion of the people who deem no State University endowment necessary, to abolish it altogether, and apply the proceeds to purposes of common education.

The question to be considered.

The question then arises, in what way can the University endowment be applied, so as to render it most useful to the country at large, and so as to interest all classes in perpetuating it inviolate for the purposes originally contemplated, by their deriving manifest advantages from its application.

Recognition of the principle of religious instruction and oversight essential.

The first step to a consummation so devoutly to be wished is, that the system of University education to which the endowment should be inviolably applied, should be such as will receive the approval and support of the great body of the people, especially of the better educated classes. This can only be done by the recognition of a principle regarded as important and vital by more than nine-tenths of the people—namely, religious instruction and oversight forming an essential part of the education of the youth of the country. I believe that no attempt to deny, to contract, or to evade the recognition and application of this principle, can succeed, in respect to either Common School or University Education. I lay it down then as a fundamental principle, that religious instruction must form a part of the education of the youth of our country, and that that religious instruction must be given by the several religious persuasions to their youth respectively. The Common Schools are, as a general rule, brought within an hour's walk of each family in the land; and therefore the oversight and duties of the parents and pastors of the children attending these schools, are not, in the least, suspended or interfered with. The constitution or order of discipline and liturgy of each religious persuasion, enjoins upon its clergy and members to teach their children the summary of religious faith and practice required to be taught to the children of the members of each persuasion. To require, therefore, any sort of denominational teaching in Common Day Schools, is not only a work of supererogation, but a direct interference with the liturgical or disciplinary codes and functions of each religious persuasion, and providing by law for the neglect of clerical and parental duties, by transferring those duties to the Common School teacher, and thus sanctioning immoralities in pastors and parents which must, in a high degree, be injurious to the interests of public morals. The cry for denominational day schools that has been raised by two or three ecclesiastics in Upper Canada, is as senseless as it is unpatriotic and selfish. It is a barefaced demand that the school master shall do the work of the clergyman, and that the State shall pay him for it; a scheme under which the expenses of educating the whole people would be multiplied many fold, and under which a large portion of the poor youth of the country would be left without any means of education upon terms within reach of the pecuniary resources of their parents, unless at the expense of their religious faith. Economy as well as patriotism requires the schools for all to be open to all upon equal terms, and upon principles common to all—leaving to each religious persuasion the performance of its own recognized and appropriate duties in the religious teaching of its own youth. In such schools, the children can be with the teacher only from nine o'clock in the morning until four o'clock in the afternoon of five or six days in the week; while during each morning and evening, and the whole of each Sabbath, they are with their parents or pastors—and these are the portions of time which usage and ecclesiastical laws prescribe for religious studies and instruction, and for which the teacher, who only sees the children during six or seven of the working hours of each secular day of the week, ought not to be held responsible, and with which he cannot be burthened to the advantage of the children, or without criminal neglect on the part of their parents and pastors. I cannot therefore conceive that it is the duty of the Government to provide denominational teaching to the pupils in the common day schools, any more than it is its duty to provide for their daily food and raiment, or a place of worship and preaching for them on the Sabbath.

How this principle is to be applied in Academies and Colleges, and first reason for Public Aid to such Institutions.

But in respect to Academies and Colleges the case is different. They are institutions which cannot be brought within an hour's walk of but very few of those who wish and are able to resort to them. Youth, in order to attend such institutions, must, as a general rule, leave their homes, and be taken from the daily oversight and instructions of their parents and pastors. During this part and period of their education, the duties of parental and pastoral care and instruction must be suspended, or provision must be made in connection with the Academies and Colleges for such oversight and instruction. Youth attending such Institutions, are at an age when they are most exposed to temptation—most need the best counsels in religion and morals—are pursuing studies which most involve the principles of human action, and the duties and relations of human life. At such a period and under such circumstances, youth need the exercise of all that is tender and vigilant in parental affection, and all that is wise in pastoral oversight; yet they are far removed both from their parents and pastors. Hence what is supplied by the parent and pastor at home, must be provided in connection with the Academy and College abroad. And therefore the same reason which condemns the establishment of denominational common schools, justifies the establishment of denominational Academies and Colleges, in connection with which the duties of the parent and the pastor can be best discharged. It is therefore absurd to suppose, as some have contended, that if we discountenance denominational common schools, we must condemn denominational Academies and Colleges. There are scarcely as many persons in Upper Canada in favor of the former, as would form a considerable party in any one Church—especially in any Protestant Church—much less in the country at large; while the great majority of the country are supporters of the latter.

Second reason for Public Aid to Denominational Colleges.

Aiding denominational Colleges is also acting, in another respect, upon the principle on which aid is given to Common Schools, namely, local contributions to the same object. No aid is given to a denominational College until after a large outlay has been made by its projectors in the procuring of premises, erection or procuring of buildings, and the employment of professors and teachers—evincive of the intelligence, disposition and exertions of a large section of the community to establish and sustain such institution.

Third reason for Public Aid to Denominational Colleges.

There is another reason for public aid to denominational Colleges, based also upon the principle upon which aid is given to Common Schools and other literary institutions. It is that such aid is given for the advancement of science and literature alone. It is not proposed to endow or aid denominational Colleges for denominational purposes; but because such Colleges are the most efficient and available agencies for encouraging and extending the study of the higher branches of education in the country. It is not recommended to give Legislative aid to any Theological Seminaries, or for the support of theological professors in any of the denominational Colleges; nay, it may be proper and expedient to provide that in case any of the Colleges to which Legislative aid is given, have or shall have theological professors, no part of the aid thus given shall be expended in payment of the salaries of such professors, and that their salaries shall be provided for from sources independent of the literary funds of such Colleges.

Fourth reason for public aid to denominational Colleges.

This view of the subject appears to me to command itself with equal force on the ground of economy. Every person must admit the desirableness and importance of expending the University Education Fund to the best advantage; and I think few can deny or doubt that it has hitherto been expended to the least, or rather to the worst advantage. The number of professors in the Faculty of Arts—that is, in the College proper for the under graduates—has never exceeded four; and it has always been maintained that the duties of that Collegiate department of the University have been as efficiently performed as in any of the Colleges of the English Universities. As to the Faculty of Law and Medicine (there being one professor in the former, and seven in the latter,) they are mere appendages to the University, consuming its funds. Attendance on the lectures in either of these faculties, is not necessary to obtain the degree of Bachelor or Master of Arts; they exist for any young men who may be studying for either profession, and are not so numerously attended as other schools of Law and Medicine in Toronto, that receive no Legislative aid. I do not believe that the existence of the Faculties as now constituted, is of any advantage to the country, or is desired by the members generally of the Professions of Law and Medicine.

* * * * *

Objection that you are endowing sectarianism answered.

This view appears to me so irresistibly conclusive, that I will not enlarge upon it; but will advert for a moment to two objections which may be made to the proposed system of aiding denominational colleges. The one objection is, that you are thereby endowing sectarianism. This oft-repeated objection, is only a superficial fallacy—a fallacy consisting of a mere play upon words. Now to endow sectarianism is a very different thing from aiding sectarians to do what is promotive of the interests of all classes of society. If a legislative grant were made to a benevolent society of the Church of England, or Rome, or the Presbyterian, Wesleyan, or Baptist Church, to relieve sick and pauper immigrants, would it be endowing sectarianism, or employing the already organized agency of a sect to promote a public object? The grants to denominational colleges are not to support those who are preaching sectarianism, and for the purpose of teaching it; but supporting those who indeed hold and act upon the doctrines of some sect, yet supporting them as teachers of the English and other languages, Mathematics, Philosophy, &c., in which there is no religious, nor political sectarianism. It is true the religious persuasion whose college may be thus aided, may and probably will derive advantage from any contribution or grant which may increase its efficiency; but that advantage is chiefly indirect and remote. So may a religious body derive some advantage from any College which affords facilities for the education of its youth, or from a government and laws which facilitate its labors. There are also two facts involved in the question which cannot be overlooked; the one is, that the denomination whose College may be added, has largely contributed to the same object, and assumes all the responsibility and labor of carrying it into effect. The second is, that the religious sects are the only actual and probable agencies in inculcating and maintaining the christian morals of the country, and without which the country would be without the first elements of civilization and in a state of anarchy if not barbarism. These facts the objector cannot deny, though he may seek to suppress them. The real question for the consideration of the statesman and philanthropist is, in what way can each thousand pounds, or each pound of the University Fund, be made instrumental in educating the largest number of youth in the higher branches of education, with the best preventatives against impairing or endangering their morals? This is the great object with which the statesman has to do; and if in promoting this object in the most efficient and economical manner for the general welfare, some advantage should fall to the agency employed, it remains for the objector to show that such incidental advantage, for so great a public benefit, and so much labor, would be a calamity to be dreaded.

Second objection, that denominational Colleges will become too numerous, answered.

A second objection which may be made to aiding denominational Colleges is, that they may become too numerous, and that each denomination does not possess such Colleges and would not therefore be included in such a system. To the first part of this objection I reply, that there is no danger of institutions becoming more numerous than the wants of the country may require, the establishment of which insolves the vigorous and combined exertion of so much intelligence, resources, and voluntary benevolence; and should such Colleges become more numerous than could be aided to the amount now proposed to be given to each of the denominational Colleges, the aggregate amount set apart annually for that purpose could be easily adjusted and distributed upon the principles of equity and fairness. In regard to the fact that, all the denominations have not Colleges, I remark that it is more than probable they all never will have Colleges; but it is certain that the views and feelings of a greater proportion of the population will be met by means of several Colleges rather than be one alone. A Presbyterian College, or at least two such Colleges, must certainly meet the doctrinal sentiments and religious experience of all sections of Calvinists, and a Methodist College those of all sections of Methodists. To the Methodist College already established, I know that students from the several sections of Methodists in the country, have resorted, and some of them candidates for the ministry in their own section or body, and have pursued their studies there with satisfaction and success. On this point, I may also make two additional remarks: 1. The greater part of those members of religious persuasions not having Colleges of their own, who wish to send sons to college, would much rather send them to a college under the auspices of another religious persuasion than their own, yet pervaded by a christian spirit and exercising religious care over its students, than to send them to a college under no religious superintendence and exercising no care in regard to the religious principles and morals of its students. 2. In each of the denominational Colleges, I believe no religious test is required in the admission of students. I know the Charter of Victoria College forbids the application of any religious test on the admission of any student: and the authority of the College has been as sedulously exerted in requiring those students who were members of some other Church than that of the College, to attend the worship of their own Church, as in requiring the attendance of Methodists at the worship of their Church.

A non-denominational College for those denominations and classes who desire it.

Should it be objected, that there is a considerable portion of the people of the country, who are opposed to sending their children to any denominational College whatever, I reply that I do not propose to abolish the collegiate department of the Toronto University, but to continue the experiment with an endowment of twice as large a sum as it has been proposed to grant to each of the denominational Colleges. While, therefore, the views and wishes of this class of persons are liberally met, they cannot complain, except in the spirit of the most illiberal tyranny, if the views and wishes of others of stronger religious convictions than themselves, are also, in some measure, consulted.

Should the foregoing suggestions be approved, the Funds of the University will be maintained inviolate for the purposes originally contemplated, and I think practical effect will be given to the views and wishes of nine-tenths, if not nineteen-twentieths of the people of Upper Canada, while the facilities and interests of the higher branches of education will be greatly extended.

Now as to the means by which I would promote these results, I venture to submit the following suggestions as to the outline of the plan.

Suggestion—First, the management of the Endowment.

1. I would make the Crown the trustee of the magnificent endowment, instead of an irresponsible Corporation, and I would transfer the sale and management of the lands to the Crown Land Department, and let the investments of the proceeds of sales be made under the authority of the Crown. I have no doubt but that the management of the present University Endowment is honest and judicious; but it costs to the fund, in my opinion, at least a thousand pounds per annum more than it would, were it managed as are the Grammar School lands. * *

Second—a Provincial University; how constituted; current expenses of it; Professorships in it; expense of buildings; estimated expense of building under Mr. Baldwin's Government.

2. I would propose further to maintain and give effect to the idea which has been vaguely though popularly held, namely, the idea of a Provincial University, sustaining a common relation to all the Colleges of the country, and providing instruction in subjects and branches of science and literature which do not come within the undergraduate curriculum in any College. I would suggest the establishment of an institution to be designed "The University of Upper Canada," the Council or supreme authority of which should be designated "The Regents of the University of Upper Canada," consisting of, say the President or Principal and one Professor of each College (to be chosen by the authorities of such College), and twelve persons appointed by the Crown, three of whom shall retire annually, and be re-appointed, and their places filled by others, at the pleasure of the Crown. I think that at present about £3000 per annum of the University Endowment should be placed at the disposal of the Regents, of which at least £1000 per annum should be expended by them in the purchase of books, specimens and objects of various kinds, suitable for a University Library and Museum. I would transfer to this University the library and museum of the present Toronto University. I would connect with this University such Professorships as those of Ancient and Modern Philosophy and Literature, General History, Natural History, Astronomy, Political Economy, Civil Engineering, Agriculture, &c. I would make the Library and Lectures free to the Professors, Graduates, and Undergraduates of all the incorporated colleges, and perhaps to the members and students of the professions generally, according to prescribed regulations. I would have the lectures easily accessible if not free to the public. The building for such University would consist of four or six lecture rooms or theatres, a library and museum. Two or more of the courses of lectures could be delivered in the same lecture room, as they are in Paris. Sometimes five or six courses of lectures are there delivered in the same room. A janitor is sufficient for the care of such a building; and one librarian would be sufficient for the library and museum. The cost of such a building need not exceed £6,000. But excellent accommodation at little expense can, in the meantime, be obtained for the professional lectures. Plans have been prepared and tenders have been made, but not yet accepted, for the erection of Toronto University buildings, at an estimated expense of about £20,000; but the present building is ample to accommodate all the undergraduates attending or likely to attend the College for many years.

Tenure of Professorships.

I would make the appointments or the elections of professors periodical, at least to some of the professorships, as is the case in several of the University professorships at Oxford and Cambridge. As the duties of a professorship would consist of a limited number of lectures during certain months of the year, and would be an honorary distinction, I would not have the salaries large.

Powers of the University.

I would authorize the Regents of the University of Upper Canada, to establish, with the approval of the Governor General, professorships in any department of science and literature; to appoint and remove professors and other officers, and determine their duties and the amount of their remuneration; and to appoint from time to time an inspector or inspectors to visit and report annually upon the state of the Colleges and Grammar schools receiving public aid; to possess and exercise, by a committee or otherwise, all the powers in regard to the Normal School, text and library books and regulations for Common Schools, that are now exercised by "the Council of Public Instruction," and all the powers which were proposed to be given to that body by the Grammar School Bill of 1850 in regard to Grammar Schools; to determine the standard and conditions of conferring degrees in the arts and sciences; to appoint examiners to examine, and to confer degrees on candidates presenting themselves, according to conditions prescribed, from any of the incorporated colleges in Upper Canada, so that if the degrees of any of these colleges should be of little value, there would be a remedy for the evil, and meritorious men would be able to obtain the distinctions to which they might be entitled.

I think there can be no comparison between the influence upon literature and science of a number of professors in a University thus constituted, and that of the same number of professors and at the same expense attached to the present Toronto University (College), attended by some score of undergraduates, not one of whom might attend any of the lectures referred to; nor do I think the importance of such a body as the proposed Regents can easily be over-rated in giving weight, unity, symmetry, and appropriateness to every part of our system of public instruction.

Provincial School of Law.

3. Though it may be said, and said popularly, that the legal and medical professions should provide for their own professional education as well as the profession of theology; yet I would be in favour of granting from the University Fund some £500 or more per annum to the Law Society, for the employment of Law lecturers. As that society is incorporated, determines the condition of admission to the study of the profession, prescribes regulations for students at law, and then prescribes the standard and examination for their admission as Barristers, I think it would be appropriate for the authorities of the Society to prescribe a course of studies and a course of lectures for the students, appoint lecturers, and require such courses to be delivered during terms, to be attended by all students at law, who should be examined in the subjects of such lectures, as well as in the books required to be read. It appears to me that such a system in the Law Department is simple and feasible, and that if carried into effect, it would exert a salutary influence upon the whole legal profession in Upper Canada—very different from having one Professor of Law in the Toronto University, lecturing betimes to some half dozen students, but not recognized in any way by the Incorporated Law Society of Upper Canada.

Provincial—School of Medicine.

4. Should the medical profession of Upper Canada be incorporated in a manner similar to that in which the legal profession has been incorporated, I think £750 or £1,000 of the University endowment, and the present medical lecture rooms of the Toronto University, might be placed at the disposal of such Medical Society, for the employment of lecturers and other purposes in the interest of the Medical profession and Medical science of Upper Canada.

The system when and where devised.

Such are the general suggestions, without entering into and indeed omitting details, I venture to submit on this grave and comprehensive subject—suggestions, however, the most important of which I meditated on some of the highest mountains in Europe several years ago, and which I embodied in substance in my Report on a system of public elementary education in Upper Canada, pp. 9, 130—135, first published in 1846, but which I have long despaired of seeing carried into effect, and therefore consigned to oblivion.

At what expense carried into effect.

The whole of what I have proposed, it will be recollected, may be carried into effect within the present annual income of the Toronto University, and which is expended on that institution alone.

In conclusion I may remark : that the plan I have proposed appears to me to possess among others the following advantages.

Advantages of the system proposed.

1. It will give the fullest practical effect to the theory long advocated of a Provincial University.
2. It will continue to those who desire it, the privilege of a “ non-sectarian college.”
3. It will satisfy the wishes of those largest sections of the community who insist upon denominational colleges ; and it will efficiently aid those colleges without “ endowing sectarianism.”
4. It will secure the integrity of the University Endowment, and provide for a much more economical and efficient application of it than that which is now made.
5. It will associate with the higher education of youth those religious and moral influences, restraints and aids, which are the great agents and best guarantees of the virtues and morals of the country.
6. It will give harmony and completeness to our whole system of Public Instruction, and bring into operation new and powerful agents and influences for the advancement and extension of the higher branches of general science and literature.
7. It will secure the important desideratum of placing at the disposal of the Crown a large and rapidly increasing fund, which may be applied from time to time, (perhaps most satisfactorily and judiciously on the recommendation of the Regents of the University of Upper Canada,) as the wants and interests of the country shall require—increasing the facilities of Collegiate education, as well as promoting the extension of practical science and the diffusion of general literature.

I should feel it needful to apologize for the great length of this communication, were I not satisfied from your own great experience, that you are fully sensible of the impossibility of presenting within narrow limits anything like a clear and impressive exposition of topics so intricate, numerous and important, as those which have entered into the system submitted to your consideration.

I remain, dear Sir,

Your obedient servant,

E. RYERSON

The Hon. FRANCIS HINCKS, &c., &c., Quebec.

APPENDIX.

EXTRACT FROM DR. RYERSON'S REPLY TO STATEMENTS CONTAINED IN THE QUESTIONS OF THE HON. GEORGE BROWN, M. P. P.

In Question 263, Mr. Brown asked me—"Is it true that you have sought to have Toronto University brought under your control as a branch of your department, and that the educated men of the University have indignantly scouted your interference in classical and scientific education as totally beyond your sphere?" The origin and promptings of this question are transparent. The conclusion of my answer was—"The insinuation is without foundation, and the very reverse of truth." To show the malicious falsity of the statement contained in the question, and that I declined any control in University matters, as also the emoluments of the Vice-Chancellorship, I will read two notes--the one addressed a day or two since to the Hon. Mr. Christie, and the other his reply; they are as follows:

[Copy.]

QUEBEC, April 19th, 1860.

MY DEAR SIR :--It having been stated the other day in the University Committee of the Legislative Assembly, that I had sought to get control of the University, I beg permission to ask you if, a short time before Mr. Langton's election by the Senate as Vice-Chancellor of the University, you did not, in behalf of yourself and certain other members of the Senate, propose to me my election to that office, and if I did not decline the high honor and important trust you proposed to confer upon me.

I remain, my dear Sir,

Yours truly,

E. RYERSON.

(Signed)

THE HON. DAVID CHRISTIE, M. L. C.

[Copy.]

QUEBEC, 19th April, 1860.

MY DEAR SIR :--I regret that the proposal which was made to elect you to the Vice-Chancellorship of the University of Toronto should have been construed as a proof of your desire to control the University. The gentlemen who made the proposal supposed that the office in question might, with great propriety, be filled by the Head of the Educational Department in Upper Canada. You declined to accept the position, and there the matter ended.

I remain, my dear Sir,

Yours, very truly,

(Signed)

DAVID CHRISTIE.

THE REV. E. RYERSON,
Quebec.

In question 250, I am represented by Mr. Brown, as having "proposed to the Senate the establishment of ten additional Scholarships of $200 each--or in all, $2000 per annum." The letter which I happened to have with me, and which I put in evidence, shows, that what I proposed, was ten exhibitions "for Masterships of Grammar Schools—each to be of the value of £50, and to be tenable for one year only;" the competition for those exhibitions to be confined to Masters of Common Schools, who had taught a Common School, who had attended the Normal School one session, who had prepared for College at the Model Grammar School, who had been recommended by the Council of Public Instruction, and who should engage to teach a Grammar School in Upper Canada, three or four years, and provide security for the fulfilment of this promise, or refund the amount of the exhibition with interest. Such were the conditions and objects of the competition; and then the competitors were to go before the Examiners of the University, which was to decide the standard of the examination, and afterwards remain and pursue Collegiate studies in University College, one year. The proposal was rejected; the desired encouragement to intelligent and enterprising Common School teachers was withheld; the hope of providing regularly trained masters for the Grammar Schools, was disappointed; and I am now represented as having endeavoured to establish ordinary Scholarships to the amount of $2000 per annum!

I now address myself to one of the most audacious impositions ever practised upon a Committee of the Legislative Assembly, as well as a most barefaced attempt to misrepresent and impugn me. By questions 245 and 248 I am charged with having, in 1854, supported and reported in favor of establishing scholarships, involving an annual expenditure of $12,000. My answer was, that I opposed it. And then, to convict me of falsehood, and to prove that I supported what I declared I had opposed, Mr. Brown puts the following questions:—

"Ques. 246—Did you, on the 18th of March, 1854, second the following resolutions:

"1st. That there should be fifteen scholarships open to competition at the matriculation of each of the three succeeding annual examinations in arts, each to be held for one year?

"2nd. At the matriculation ten scholarships should be appropriated to those who held the highest places in general classes, and five to those students who had distinguished themselves on the following special subjects, viz.: Two for mathematics, two for classics, and one for modern languages.

"3rd. At the first year's examination seven scholarships shall be appropriated to those who hold the highest places in the general classes, and eight in the following subjects, viz.: Two in classics, two in natural sciences, and two in modern languages.

"4th. At the two following annual examinations five scholarships shall be appropriated to the highest in the general classes, and ten to those who have most distinguished themselves, &c., &c.

Ans. I cannot recollect. I know the subject of such scholarships was discussed.

"Ques. 247. Were these resolutions referred to a Committee of yourself, Dr. Willis, Dr. Taylor, and Mr. Barron?—It is possible; I do not recollect."

When Mr. Brown put these questions, I had no recollection whatever of having placed my views on record respecting the creation of Scholarships to the amount of £3,000 per annum, although I recollect having opposed it, and that I had advocated scholarships for the assistance of poor young men. But on turning to the Minutes of the Senate's proceedings, I find that the resolutions quoted by Mr. Brown had no relation to the creation of scholarships, but to the manner of distributing scholarships already created, and the creation of which I had opposed.

The resolutions creating scholarships were proposed by Mr. Langton, the 15th of March, 1854, three days before the introduction of the resolutions quoted by Mr. Brown. An attempt was made to get them postponed, until a return of the number of students in University College should be laid before the Senate. That motion having failed, I moved an amendment to Mr. Langton's resolutions on scholarships. The following is an extract from the Minutes of the Senate, March 15, 1854, recording the proceedings referred to:—

Mr. Langton, seconded by Mr. Justice Draper, moved,

"1. That all scholarships for undergraduates, shall be of the same amount, viz.: £30 each, and that there shall be 15 annually.

"2. That no student shall hold more than one scholarship in any one year.

"3. That there shall be eight scholarships annually for graduates, to be held for two years after taking the degree of B.A., of the value of £50 each.

"4. That there shall be two exhibitions of the value of £15 each, in every year, which shall be awarded to students who would have been entitled to scholarships, but are not or do not propose to be resident in any affiliated College.

"Dr. Workman, seconded by Mr. Nelles, moved in amendment (to the above), "That the further consideration of the subject of scholarships be deferred until the information alluded to in the notice of motion (for the return of students attending University College), given to day by the mover (Dr. Workman), be placed before the Senate.

Which amendment was lost.

"The Rev. Dr. Ryerson, seconded by the Rev. Mr. Nelles, moved in amendment, "That a sum not exceeding £1000 per annum, be expended for the establishment of scholarships in the University. That these scholarships be established for the purpose of assisting (as far as possible), with pecuniary aid, deserving youth, whose parents may be unable to meet the expense necessarily attendant upon a University education.

Which amendment was lost.

"The original resolutions, as proposed by Mr. Langton and seconded by the Hon. Justice Draper, were then respectively put and carried."

Now, Sir, in the face of those proceedings, recorded on the official minutes of the Senate, within three pages of where Mr. Brown quotes the resolutions contained in his question, 246 (above cited), he represents me as having supported the establishment of scholarships, involving an expenditure of $12,000 per annum! His questions also assert that the scholarships which I aided in establishing were the same as those now established. The above amendment, moved by me, shows that while I opposed the appropriation of more than £1000 for scholarships, I proposed to confine the competition for such scholarships to poor young men. The resolutions quoted by Mr. Brown, specify not the creation, but the awarding or distribution of the scholarships previously created. They show the preference given to general proficiency, ten out of the fifteen scholarships at Matriculation to be given to those who held the highest places in GENERAL CLASSES; seven out of the first year, and five for each of the two following years, also for general proficiency; whereas, according to the present system, only one scholarship is given for general proficiency the first year, and none for any one of the following years, and none for poor young men; they always competing at a disadvantage, as rich men are able to employ private tutors for their sons. The Rev. Mr. Nelles, in his evidence in answer to question 409, quotes the proceedings of the Senate, and shows how contrary to the records themselves, are the statements contained in Mr. Brown's questions. As well might Mr. Dorion be charged with having voted to divide Montreal into three electoral districts, because when a Bill which he had opposed was passed to make such a division, he wished to render it as consistent with his own views as possible. I opposed the creation of scholarships as proposed, and when they were established, I sought to make the distribution of them as just and beneficial as possible, according to my views. Such false quotations from the official minutes of the Senate, in order to implicate me, are of a piece with the seven forged quotations made by the "Editor-in-chief" of the Globe, which I exposed last year, and to which he has never attempted any reply.

E. RYERSON.

Quebec, April 23rd, 1860.

ERRATUM.

The first line of page 32, for 182, read 184.

P E T I T I O N .

To the Honorable the Legislative Council of the Province of Canada, in Parliament assembled,

THE PETITION OF THE CHANCELLOR, VICE-CHANCELLOR AND SENATE OF THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

HUMBLY SHEWETH :

That a Petition of Joseph Stinson, D. D., and Ephraim B. Harper, on behalf of the Conference of the Wesleyan Methodist Church in Canada, has been presented to your Honorable House, praying amongst other things, that you will cause an investigation to be instituted into the manner in which the University Act has been administered, and the funds of the Endowment have been extended.

Whilst your Petitioners cordially concur in that portion of the prayer of the aforesaid Petition, they feel called upon to submit to your Honorable House some observations upon the allegations therein set forth.

It is alleged, that "the Senate of the University of Toronto, instead of giving effect to the liberal intentions of the Legislature, determined to identify the Institution with one College in contradistinction, and to the exclusion of all others." Your Petitioners can show that no Statute has been passed, nor has any other action been taken by the Senate which places University College upon any different footing from the other Colleges affiliated to the University ; the only difference being that University College at once adopted the curriculum of study which the Senate was empowered to prescribe : whereas the other colleges, as far as the Senate has been notified, have not adopted it, but have continued to act upon the University powers conferred upon them by their several Charters ; and to grant Degrees to their Students upon their own Examinations.

It is further alleged, that "the curriculum of the University studies, instead of being elevated and confined to that of the London University, has been revised and changed three times since 1853, and reduced, by options and otherwise, below what it formerly was, and below what it is, in the British Universities, and below what it is in the best Colleges in the United States ;" and it is added, that the effect has been "to reduce the standard of a University Degree, both in Arts and Medicine, below what it was before the passing of the University Act in 1853."

The Course of Study, as originally determined upon in 1854, was revised in some of its details in 1857, the main features remaining unaltered : but there has been no other alteration in the subjects of examination, although there have been some changes in the Text Books recommended,—a species of revision which will always be necessary, as new and improved Works appear upon the subjects of the Course.

Neither has the standard of a University Degree been lowered below what it formerly was ; but, on the contrary, especially for Honors, it has been raised, by the addition of the Departments of Natural Sciences and Modern Languages ; and it is in reality in advance of what is required by the University of London, which is pointed out by the University Act as our model. It is true that the Matriculation Examination has been reduced, although even now, it is not below that prescribed by the London University, nor below the only corresponding Examination at Cambridge. But, at the same time, the University Course has been increased from three to four years ; so that the first year's work has been added, and the true comparison should have been between the former Matriculation Examination, and the present examination at the end of the first year.

In making this reduction, corresponding to the extended length of the Course, the Senate had specially in view the state of the Grammar Schools, and the indispensable necessity of adapting the course of study of the University to the facilities provided by the other branches of the system of Public Education already established. If a Matriculation Examination were proscribed, for which the schools of the country are incapable of properly preparing the Students, the effect would be either to exclude the great bulk of the youth from the possibility of entering the University, or the Examination must have been merely nominal. The Senate judged it wiser to prescribe such an examination as might be strictly acted on, without closing the doors of the Colleges upon those who sought admission to be taught what they could no where else acquire; whilst by adding a year to the Course, they insured that the final stamp of a Degree should retain its full value. It is gratifying to perceive that an improvement is already showing itself in the Grammar Schools, and the only alteration made since 1857, which is not merely the change of a text book, has been an addition to the Matriculation Examination. Further advances in the same direction may no doubt be made hereafter—the true doctrine in the opinion of the Senate being, that the Matriculation Examination should always be kept a little above the capacity of the majority of the Schools, but not so far above it as to act as an exclusion from the University.

The system of Options adopted by the Senate is objected to by the Petitioners, as lowering the general standard; but it was already in operation in many of the best Universities: and since the Statutes of the University were passed, the same principle has been extended in the University of London far beyond what is permitted in the University of Toronto. The subjects which are now considered essential to a liberal education are so extensive, that, if all were equally insisted on, few Students would have the capacity to obtain more than a superficial knowledge of any. A respectable acquaintance with all of them should be possessed by every one who has passed through a University, and this is provided for by making them all compulsory in some part of the Course. But if any Student has exhibited a decided taste and capacity for any special study, as evidenced by continuing to take first class honors in it, he is permitted by their Statutes, in the later years to confine himself more and more to the particular subjects in which he has distinguished himself. The Senate believe, and in this belief they are supported by the present practice of all the best Universities, that this is the most efficient system for insuring competent knowledge of all Departments, whilst giving scope to the peculiar talents of each Student, and to the special requirements of his education, as a preparation for his future Profession.

In carrying out the special functions of the University, the temporary accommodation provided for the Library, Museums, and other indispensable requirements,—but, above all, for the examinations in the different Faculties and Departments, was so inadequate, as materially to interfere with the proper fulfilment of its most important duties; and the fact of there having been four successive removals since the passing of the last University Act, abundantly proves the necessity of providing adequate permanent accommodation, before the University could hope properly to fulfil the objects for which it was established. The Senate was accordingly entrusted by the Executive with the erection of suitable buildings, for its own accommodation and that of University College. They have now completed a Building not unsuitable, in their belief, to the National University and College of this rising Province. They have also made considerable additions to the Library and Museum, which they have provided shall be open to the public at large, without any restriction, so as to make them truly Provincial Institutions. These objects necessarily involved a considerable expenditure, which was authorized by the Executive, in accordance with the provisions of the University Act, to be charged against the Permanent Fund. Your Petitioners believe that this expenditure has not been excessive, considering the importance of the results sought to be attained.

Your Petitioners therefore pray that you will maintain in the Provincial University the liberal and unsectarian system, which forms the principle upon which the Preparatory Educational Institutions of this country have been so successfully established; and that you will preserve intact the endowment now applied under existing Statutes for establishing one high and uniform standard of education adapted to the condition and wants of the Province at large, instead of encouraging the uncertain systems which must certainly result from the division of the Provincial Endowment among many small and necessarily imperfectly organized Institutions.

And your Petitioners will ever pray, &c.

(Signed)

JOHN LANGTON,

Vice-Chancellor.

SENATE ROOM,

March 16th, 1860.

th from ly nom-strictly on to be se, they fying to and the has been irection
e being,
y of the Univer-

, as low-
Univer-
been exersity of n are so capacity to th all of
is is pro-
Student
ntinuing to con-
hed himractice of nt know-t, and to n.

modation
bove all,
, as ma-
the fact niversity
n, before
ed. The
uildings, mpleted a f this ris-
Museum,
iction, so
ed a conn the pro-Petition-
ce of the University

eparatory and that establishnts of the nly result
ily imper-

,
ellor.

3rd Session, 6th Parliament, 23 Victoria, 1860.

Petition of the Chancellor, Vice-Chancellor and Senate, of the University of Toronto, praying against the passing of any measure to divide the Endowment of the said University among other Institutions.

Presented to the LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL, by
HON. MR. DEBLAQUIERE.
22nd March, 1860.

QUEBEC:

PRINTED BY TROMPER & CO., STANISLÉ STREET.

